UNI CONTRIBUTES $50 MILLION TO LOCAL ECONOMY

At the request of Lord Mayor, Frank Arkell, Mr. John Steinke (Senior Lecturer in Economics at the University of Wollongong) has just completed an analysis of the economic impact that the University has on the region.

The study reveals that the University will be responsible for bringing $30.5 million dollars into the region from Federal Government grants, research grants, student scholarships and parent support for students from outside the region. Of this about $20,333,000 is available for spending in the region.

This influx of money when it flows through the Illawarra economy generates a further $29,450,000 of sales of other goods and services in the region in 1984: creating an overall gain to the local economy of just under $50,000,000.

In effect the 730 jobs held by University staff create another 730 jobs in other local industries.

In addition to its importance as an employer, and as a source of local spending, the University contributes to the local economy by providing education and training for the workforce.

There is ample evidence that University education adds substantially to the productivity of workers, thus making possible higher wages and profits. For example, surveys by the Australian Bureau of Statistics have shown that University graduates earn more than double the average Australian income over the period of their working life.

The University also contributes to the retraining of the Wollongong workforce through acceptance of a relatively high proportion of students on the basis of completion of a technical college certificate or passing of a special entrance examination. With local unemployment running at 20%, retraining is one of the University's important activities.

Large numbers of University of Wollongong and Institute of Advanced Education graduates are now employed by the major companies of the Illawarra, and in the schools, the city and county councils, and state and federal government departments. In the long term they, and the many generations of graduates yet to come, are the University's greatest contribution to the Illawarra economy.

SIR SIDNEY NOLAN DONATES PAINTINGS TO SCHOOL OF CREATIVE ARTS

As a gesture of support for the new School of Creative Arts at the University of Wollongong, Sir Sidney Nolan, one of the world's great artists, has donated a series of his paintings.

The gift was announced by the Head of the School, Professor Edward Cowie, at a gala reception and staff exhibition to launch the public image of the new School. Professor Cowie read the communication from Sir Sidney -

'Hello, you guys in Wollongong as an almost near neighbour and half Illawarrarian, I'm very excited by the dream that Ed. and you are all dreaming up. My God ... the world needs it. You have rolled back the sensual clock with this dream of giving to students and the community a possibility to be openly curious and to experiment again.

I can't give much in recognition for this: but one thing I can and will do, and I want Ed to announce it that I shall donate a series of my paintings to the new gallery in the School of Creative Arts. I shall make Wollongong a place where my heart finds ease on the slopes of Mount Keira. Does that sound Irish enough Ed?

I'm happy to be the first to give work in this way to a place where I can feel a new spirit. I'm there with you tonight, and look forward to seeing you in Wollongong soon.

As Ned Kelly would have put it ... 'Strewth .. It's a wonder.'

Sir Sidney Nolan has also agreed to be president of the Board of Advisers set up to discuss the work of the School on behalf of the people of Australia.

SUCCESSFUL CSIRO - UNIVERSITY COLLABORATION

CSIRO and Australian universities were now collaborating on more than 170 projects with total funding of $1.23 million, a joint committee of CSIRO and the Australian Vice-Chancellors' Committee announced.

The new chairman of the joint committee, Professor Ray Martin, and his predecessor, Dr. Keith Boardman, of the CSIRO Executive, said that these projects were one of the most significant achievements of the Joint Committee.

They said the Committee had been set up in 1979 with the intention of improving collaboration between CSIRO and the universities, and was definitely meeting that aim.

CSIRO and universities had made available special matching grants to provide for the collaborative research project scheme they said. Another five universities had joined the scheme so far this year making a total of 12. The universities participating in the scheme were: Australian National University, James Cook, Macquarie, Melbourne, Monash, New South Wales, Newcastle, Queensland, Sydney, Tasmania, Western Australian and Wollongong.

Professor Martin said the jointly funded projects, conducted by universities and CSIRO Divisions around the country, covered many aspects of scientific research and had been very successful.

International News

WOLLONGONG RESEARCH NOW IN BRITAIN

A new book published by Croom Helm on Policy, Administration and Management has been released in the U.K. The book 'Curriculum Priorities in Australian Higher Education', edited by Drs. Tony Fielding and Darol Cavanagh from the University of Wollongong was released in Australia late last year. The 1984 release means that the book is now available in the U.S.A., Canada, U.K., Australia and New Zealand.

The book discusses current curriculum priorities and practices in Australian higher education. Its central thesis is that the curricular priority and academic status assigned to teacher education are critical indices of the extent to which universities fulfil a number of social and educational purposes. The chapters in the book examine the nature and purpose of teacher education in Australian institutions of higher education, including universities and CAE's. The editors conclude from these different perspectives that Australian higher education is falling down badly in fulfilling these purposes, especially in teaching and research, and argue strongly that increased priority for teacher education is the key to remedying the situation in the 1980's.

Campus Community Interface

"OPEN HOUSE"

International House has invited interested Friends to Dinner and "Open House" on Tuesday, 4th September, 1984 (RSVP - 30th August).

Liz Hilton will welcome Friends to have an informal look around the House and meet some of the residents. A cafeteria style meal will be served from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. Catering numbers are crucial here and guests are asked to note the RSVP date.

The 200 residents of International House have one thing in common: they are living away from home in order to study. The group is comprised of undergraduates, post-graduates, university staff and visiting fellows. New South Wales is the home state for the majority but others come from other states and territories and from overseas. Links between International House residents and the people of Wollongong are very few. Increased interaction would be great!

RSVP to 299711 ext. 3784.

VISITING CATHOLIC SCHOLAR

The Friends of the University Visiting Catholic Scholar Group, in collaboration with the Department of Philosophy, will be bringing Professor Max Charlesworth to Wollongong for the Festival of Wollongong.

Professor Charlesworth is the Professor of Philosophy at Deakin University. He will give two major addresses as follows:

Saturday, 1st September

* The 3rd Festival Philosophy Lecture
"New Ways of Birth and Death: Biotechnology and Bioethics"
Wollongong City Gallery - 7.30 p.m.

Monday, 3rd September

* The Visiting Catholic Scholar Address
"The Future of Religious Belief"
Northern Lounge - 12.30 p.m.
(Light Luncheon cost $3; Students free)

All staff, students and members of the Friends are most welcome.

VISITING ISLAMIC SCHOLAR

The Islamic group within the Friends is sponsoring the visit of Professor M.A. Elerian, Visiting Fellow in Asian Studies at the Australian National University.

Professor Elerian is also President of the Australian Federation of Islamic Councils.

He will speak on the topic "Islam - the religion of Meliorism, Certainties and Challenges."

Venue: Pentagon Theatre 1

Date: Friday, 14 September, 1984 at 7 p.m.

General Notices

BECOME COMPUTER LITERATE

The School of Industrial and Administrative Studies is offering short courses in many facets of computing for parents, business people and executives.

Courses are designed for both the beginner and the experienced and range from 8 hours to 20 hours duration. Each participant will have individual use of one of the University's microcomputers.

Courses will be on week nights from 6 p.m. - 10 p.m. and the microcomputer laboratories will be available to participants on weekends.

Prices range from $55 for the 8 hour course to $120 for the 20 hour course.

Applications and details can be obtained from the School Secretary (Phone: 270751) August - November.

INFORMATION PLEASE!

Could members of staff organizing events connected with the University please send brief details of them to the Publications and Information Unit? We often receive enquiries from the public about these and sometimes have to resort to strange measures to ferret out the appropriate information... Help us to help you! Please phone ext. 3916.

AUSTRALIAN BICENTENNIAL PUBLICATION ON WOMEN

The A.B.A. is funding a publication on women for the 1988 celebrations. More details are available from the Editor (16.5.4 refers).

OPEN DAY/EXPO VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

The Open Day Committee needs student volunteers to act as guides and literature distributors on 20 and 21 October. ALL VOLUNTEERS WILL RECEIVE A UNIVERSITY TEE SHIRT AND A MEAL VOUCHER FROM THE UNION.

Enter your name on the roster with Gillian Curtis on ext. 3926 or 3916.

SIGN LANGUAGE REGISTER

The University Counselling Centre is keen to establish a register of those people who are proficient in sign language and so able to assist hearing impaired students. Those who have this skill should register at the Counselling Centre.

NSW INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY MONTH

The Sydney Morning Herald will be publishing a supplement at the end of September to support Information Technology Month in N.S.W. The supplement represents an ideal opportunity for participants to maximise publicising for their exhibits and also for their information systems. Staff are invited to provide an article with accompanying photographs for inclusion in the supplement. The deadline is September 1. Articles should be 300-500 words and capable of being sub-edited.

Contact Peter Stamford, Secretary, NSW Information Technology Committee.

Equal Employment Opportunity Project

STAFF SURVEY

It is anticipated that the E.E.O. staff survey will be distributed to all staff at the University on Monday 10th September. You will be receiving two questionnaires. The first is designed to collect:

- * a profile of the members of staff: sex, racial and ethnic origin, age, qualifications, length of service, etc.,;
- * information about staff members' work histories including access to training, useful administrative experience, promotion and research opportunities;

The second questionnaire is intended to collect:

- * information about staff members' experiences and feelings about procedures at the University;
- * information about possible instances of discrimination or harassment;
- * suggestions on positive actions the University could take.

All of this information is needed for the preparation of the University's E.E.O. management plan.

Every staff member will get a chance to complete the survey and it is a good opportunity for you to have a say in how things are done here.

Please answer the questions on your own; the questionnaire is designed to reflect your views and experiences. You are urged to give thoughtful and frank answers.

Confidentiality and return of surveys: All the information is confidential. The questionnaires in no way attempt to identify individuals. The questionnaires are to be returned via the internal mail in the envelopes provided. Your name need not be written on either of the questionnaires or the envelopes they go in.

You will find a small card in the package this is to be placed in the internal mail when your questionnaires are returned. This must be sent separately, it is not to be put in either of the envelopes with your questionnaires. This will allow us to work out who we have not received questionnaires from. We will not be able to identify your questionnaires. Again you must realise, we will be treating all information as confidential and no attempt will be made to identify individuals. The completed questionnaires will not be available to anyone outside the E.E.O. project.

If you have any inquiries about the questionnaire, or any aspects of the E.E.O. project, you may contact the E.E.O. Co-ordinator or E.E.O. project staff on 270917 or exts. 3197 and 3030.

News from Council

Council at its meeting on 10th August, 1984:

- * elected Justice Hope to a further three year term as Chancellor;
- * approved new subject proposals for 1985 put forward by academic units;
- * approved revised regulations for Diplomas and Associate Diplomas in the Institute;
- * approved the establishment of a School of Health Sciences within the Faculty of Science;
- * approved the academic calendar for 1986;
- * established a permanent Curricula Review Committee;
- * approved the introduction of a new joint degree: Bachelor of Science/Bachelor of Engineering;
- * approved the reclassification of the position of Head of the Centre for Teaching Development to the level of Senior Lecturer;
- * approved annual fee increases for the Union and Sports Association from 1985 ($9.00 and $3.50 increases respectively);
- * considered the draft 1985 University budget, noting that details of the actual funding for 1985 had yet to be advised;
- * agreed, in principle, to the establishment of "The University of Wollongong Club";
- * approved the University's 1983 Annual Report;
- * appointed Mr. Dombroski as the Council representative on the Department of Biology Review Committee

Further details on any of these matters may be obtained from the University Secretary.

Seminars

Details of the seminars below are displayed on the "Campus News" Notice Board in the Administration Annexe.

DEPARTMENT OF BIOLOGY

Venue: Room G25 Metallurgy Building.
Honours Seminars:

Tuesday - 4.00 - 5.30 - September 4
Dr. Dedee Woodside, School of Zoology, University of N.S.W.: "Echolocation and foraging in eastern Australian bats."

Tuesday - 4.00 - 5.30 - September 11
Dr. Lindsay Smith, Department of Physics, University of Wollongong: "Cosmology for Biologists."

Tuesday - 4.00 - 5.30 - September 18
Professor H.G.L. Coster, School of Physics, University of N.S.W.: "Membranes: pores, stability and cell fusion."

ONE DAY CONFERENCE ON "FREE AND MOVING BOUNDARY PROBLEMS"

August 31st 1984, 9.30 a.m. - 4.00 p.m.

The conference is jointly organised by the Department of Mathematics, University of Wollongong and the Sydney Branch of the Division of Applied Mathematics of the Australian Mathematical Society.

Speakers Include:

Dr. A. McNabb, Applied Mathematics Division, D.S.I.R., N.Z. "A moving boundary problem associated with reduction of iron sand."

Dr. A. Miller, Centre for Mathematical Analysis, A.N.U. Canberra. "Numerical methods for the multiphase Stefan problem."

Dr. J.R. Ockendon, Mathematical Institute, University of Oxford, U.K. "Recent mathematical developments in free and moving boundary problems."

Dr. L. Paterson, Division of Geomechanics, C.S.I.R.O., Syndal, Victoria. "Simulating the moving boundary between two fluids in a porous medium."

Dr. C. Rogers, Dept. of Applied Mathematics, University of Waterloo, Canada. "Application of Backlund transformations to Stefan problems."

Dr. G.P. Steven, Dept. of Aeronautical Engineering, University of Sydney, N.S.W. "Moving interfaces with finite elements."

Dr. R.A. Wooding, Applied Mathematics Division, D.S.I.R., N.Z. "Motion of two compressible fluids with an interface in a porous reservoir."

Transport from and to Sydney Airport will be organised on the day of the conference. For these arrangements and further information please contact: Dr. J.M. Hill (042) 270822; Dr. G. Doherty (042) 270825; Secretary, Department of Mathematics, University of Wollongong, (042) 270845.

Registration including lunch and coffee $10.

CENTRE FOR MULTICULTURAL STUDIES

Workshop on Australia's Aid Program and The University of Wollongong - Wednesday, 12th September, University Union, Northern Lounge.

The Centre for Multicultural Studies will host a one-day workshop for University academic and administrative staff. The workshop will have two objectives:

1. To brief members of the university on the recommendations of the Jackson Report on Australia's Overseas Aid Program; and
2. To solicit comments on those recommendations and to investigate future options for University programs in the light of the recommendations.

PHYSICS COLLOQUIUM

Time: Thursday, September 6, 1984 — 12.30 p.m.

Place: Physics Lecture Theatre (18/118)

Speaker: Dr. Gordon Robertson, Anglo-Australian Observatory.

Title: Quasars and their absorption lines: Probing the early Universe.

Quasi-stellar objects (quasars) are the most luminous and distant discrete objects known in the Universe, if one accepts that the redshifts of their spectral lines are due to the expansion of the Universe, as for galaxies. The energy needed to power a quasar can be provided by the release of gravitational potential energy as matter is accreted on to a very massive compact object, probably a black hole.

Quasars make excellent probes of the intergalactic medium, because the line of sight from a quasar to the earth passes a vast distance through space. Many quasar spectra show absorption lines which can be ascribed to discrete clouds of intervening matter along the sight-line, not physically associated with the quasar itself. There are two main categories of such absorption systems: firstly, the so-called Lyman α forest, consisting of numerous clouds which show only the Lyman α absorption due to neutral hydrogen, and secondly the rarer systems showing strong absorption lines due to heavy elements as well as hydrogen. The latter are thought to be due to absorption in the halos of galaxies along the sight-line, while the Lyman α forest lines are thought to be due to intergalactic gas clouds. The heavy element content of these intergalactic clouds is of particular interest, since if heavy elements are absent (as is often thought to be the case) then the clouds must be primordial. Some investigations of this question will be discussed.

Sponsored by the Department of Physics, the Australian Institute of Physics and the Illawarra Planetarium Society.

DEPARTMENTS OF CHEMISTRY & BIOLOGY

Tuesday September 25 — 4.00 - 5.30

Speaker: Prof. Leon Kane-Maguire, Department of Chemistry, University of Wollongong.

Title: Anyone for sludge-burgers?

Tuesday October 2 — 4.00 - 5.30

Speaker: Sian Thomas, Department of Biology, University of Wollongong.

Title: Membrane ion pumps and thyroid hormones.

Tuesday October 9 — 4.00 - 5.30

Speaker: Dr. H.J. Spencer, Department of Biology, University of Wollongong.

Title: Inhibition in neural circuits.

Tuesday October 16 — 4.00 - 5.30

Speaker: Assoc. Prof. Ross Crozier, School of Zoology, University of New South Wales.

Title: Relatedness and microgeographic genetic variation in an Australian arid zone ant.

DEPARTMENT OF MATHEMATICS

Thursday, September 13 — 1.30 p.m.

Speaker: Dr. W. Hsieh, Department of Theoretical and Applied Mechanics, University of New South Wales.

Place: Austin Keane Building, Room 204.

Title: To be announced.

Thursday, September 20 — 1.30 p.m.

Speaker: Dr. M. Bunder, Department of Mathematics, University of Wollongong.

Place: Austin Kean Building, Room 204.

Title: To be announced.

Thursday, October 4 — 1.30 p.m.

Speaker: Professor J.R. Blake, Department of Mathematics, University of Wollongong.

Place: Austin Keane Building, Room 204.

Title: To be announced.

DEPARTMENT OF PHILOSOPHY

"Are Qualities And Relations Particular Or Universal?"
— Mr. Greg Williams (The University of Wollongong).

Friday September 7, 10.30 a.m., Room 19.1016 Social Sciences Building.
