KOOLOOBONG'S SECOND STAGE IMMINENT

by M.S. Wong

The design and documentation for Stage II of "Kooloobong" - student and visitor accommodation project, are now in progress. This will consist of two blocks of two-storeys (type D) and one of single storey (type A) located to the west of Stage I. The site is bounded by Northfields Avenue, west of West Road (Entrance No. 4) to the South and Robsons Road to the West.

Stage II will accommodate 45 students with 20 in each of the two-storey blocks and 5 in the single storey block, which is similar to the single storey blocks of Stage I. When completed, the complex (Stages I and II) will be able to house a total of 100 students.

The two-storey block will have 4 units of five bedrooms each, with a dining room, kitchen, storeroom, shower and w.c. in each unit. Each level will have 2 units and there will be a large common living room to serve each block.

Tenders for construction will be called shortly and construction is scheduled to commence in July this year.

HISTORIC MEETING DISCUSSES SCIENCE FUNDING

Twenty-eight Deans of Science representing every Australian university met for the first time this week, at the Australian National University.

'The motive behind the meeting' said Dr. Dugald Paton of the A.N.U. 'was the enormously difficult situation in which science education and research find themselves in the Australian universities.'

The Deans agreed that it was impossible to reconcile the publicly stated policies of Government relating to science and technology with the realities within the universities in training scientists and technologists.

Professor Dilworth, a Dean at Murdoch University, said that without proper training of adequate numbers of graduates in science and technology Australia could kiss goodbye any chance of a leading position in the technology-based industries.

The Deans discussed ways of documenting their financial problems in respect of staffing, equipment, research and post-graduate training to present a clearer picture to Government.

A follow-up meeting has been planned for November this year, to maintain the impetus of the campaign for better funding of science and technology.

The University of Wollongong was represented at this meeting by Associate Professor Peter Bolton, Chairman of the Faculty of Science, and by Dr. Martin Bunder, Chairman of the Faculty of Mathematical Sciences.

MUSIC CRITIC VISITS SCHOOL OF CREATIVE ARTS

Arthur Jacobs and distinguished music critic, writer and historian spent the first two weeks of April lecturing in the School of Creative Arts.

Professor Jacobs, visiting Australia on a British Council Grant, spoke about the operas of Wagner and Britten, the role of the music critic and, in a joint music and theatre class, addressed the topic of "Opera as Drama".

In an interview for the ABC radio, Professor Jacobs spoke highly of the School's interdisciplinary initiatives and commented on an enjoyable visit. The enjoyment was mutual.

CHANGES AT IDP

It was announced in Canberra on Wednesday, that Professor K.J.C. Back is to leave his present position as Vice-Chancellor of the James Cook University of North Queensland at the end of this year to become the Executive Director of the International Development Program of Australian Universities and Colleges Ltd. (IDP).

The present Executive Director (Professor D.E. Tribe) is due to retire on 31 December 1985.

In announcing this appointment Dr. Graham Swain, the Vice-Chairman of IDP, spoke enthusiastically of the growth of IDP's activities and of its good fortune in attracting a person of Professor Back's experience and standing to the organization.

"Professor Back" he said "is not only Australia's longest serving Vice-Chancellor, he has also had a long and intimate connection with Australia's overseas aid programs". Besides advising the Australian Development Assistance Bureau as a member of several of its important committees and overseas missions, Professor Back has been closely associated with international cooperation between universities. For many years he was Chairman of the Australian-Asian Universities' Co-operation Scheme and the Australian Universities' International Development Program. He played a leading role in negotiations between the Australian Committee of Directors and Principals (ACDP) and the Australian Vice-Chancellors' Committee (AVCC), which led to the formation of IDP and was its first Chairman. He has also served on the Council of the University of Papua New Guinea and is presently on the Council of the University of the South Pacific.

In welcoming the appointment of his successor, Professor Tribe stressed that Professor Back's long experience and previous association with IDP would ensure the steady and effective development of the organisation. "Professor Back" he said "is already very well-known and respected throughout Southeast Asia and the Pacific. I know that his appointment will be warmly welcomed throughout Australia and the region in which IDP is active."

1985 AUSTRALIAN VICE-CHANCELLORS' COMMITTEE - ADMINISTRATIVE STAFF CONFERENCE

This year the University of Wollongong is hosting the 1985 AVCC Administrative Staff Conference. The conference is held annually and provides an opportunity each year for the Registrars and Senior Financial Officers of each of the 19 Australian Universities to meet and discuss matters of common interest which may have arisen during the preceding year or are likely to arise in the future. Others attending include Mr. Frank Dialoa, Registrar from the University of Papua New Guinea and Mr. Peter Hampton from the New Zealand Vice-Chancellors' Committee, and secretarial representatives from the Australian Vice-Chancellors' Committee.

The Conference is being held from 5-7 May. The working sessions of the Conference are being held at the University and discussions over the two days will touch on many topics including administrative responsibilities and the development of management skills, occupational health and safety and the problems facing universities, external pressures on universities, industrial relations and overseas students.

The Conference will conclude on Tuesday evening 7 May with the Chancellor's Dinner at Gleniffer Brae at which delegates and a number of invited guests will be present.

An additional meeting of Registrars with representatives from the Federal Department of Education has been scheduled for Wednesday 8 May at the University to discuss the implementation of the Overseas Students Policy recently announced by the Federal Government.

YOUTH FOR UNDERSTANDING

by Les Phillips

In January 1986, through Youth for Understanding, a non-profit educational exchange program, 260 international students will be arriving in Australia from U.S.A., Europe, Canada, Scandinavia, South America and Japan. What we need in the Illawarra is 30 host families; these are the backbone of the organization. Being a host family is a rich and rewarding learning experience, the world coming into your home. If you have room in your lives for a young person from overseas, then why not take part in the magic of sharing another culture. In 1986 a rewarding experience can also be available to Australian high school students who would like to live overseas and go to school for 12 months in any of these countries. Youth for Understanding is now taking applications from students wishing to take part in this unique experience for 1986. Should either of these experiences appeal to you, "host family" or "student", please telephone Youth for Understanding's regional co-ordinator, Mrs. Val Kill on 845987.

Letters

Dear Sir,

I wonder if the Uni gardeners have any awareness of ecology and the welfare of native animals. In their zeal to rid the Library Duck-pond of reeds they left the local brown-ducks, and the black ones with red and yellow appendages, with nowhere to nest. As a result cats from adjoining houses have killed most of the wild native birds that used to live there. Also the draining of the other large pond, near the Humanities car park, killed all the fish. The reeds died out over a period of months then were burned; along with all the lizards, frogs, invertebrates etc. The scorched pond looks far worse than the beautiful reed-filled pond that previously housed several families of local wild ducks, other birds, reptiles and invertebrates. There is nothing wrong with reeds in a pond! Nature knows best how to utilize the nutrients in an ecosystem to provide a habitat for local creatures. These perhaps well intentioned encroachments by the gardeners are destructive and misguided and should be re-evaluated. As the university exists at the foot of Mount Keira, and has several of the best creeks and streams in the area adjoining the botanical gardens, it has a responsibility to the wildlife that is unable to understand man-made boundaries. The Illawarra has a deplorable history of environmental exploitation and - looking at the University's own environmental policies - one can only hope that some kind of responsible land management plan will emerge here in the near future.

Yours sincerely,
Chris Illert
