

International-standard hockey centre ready by June

THE UNIVERSITY of Wollongong is to get an international-standard artificial hockey field.

Executive Officer of the University's Recreation and Sports Association, Mr Paul Manning, announced the field at a special function last week.

The new hockey centre has been funded by the University ($100,000) and by a loan of $380,000 through the National Australia Bank.

The field is expected to be completed by the end of June

The centre will feature a 6000 square metre artificial grass carpet laid over a rubber shock-absorbent pad and sand-filled.

"It meets international hockey standards and provides excellent facilities for carnivals up to international level," Mr Manning said. "It can also be used for elite coaching, juniors and veterans competitions, seven-a-side soccer and a range of other recreation activities including touch football.

"The field will be of a much higher standard than other sand-filled surfaces in Australia.

"We hope that 80 per cent of users of the centre will come from the community with the remaining 20 per cent being University staff and students.

"We hope to cater for all ranges of players from those just learning to elite and developmental squad training.

"A wide range of competitions will also be based at the centre. Summer competitions can be run in twilight and evenings, rain, hail or shine!"

Mr Manning said the centre would also have $60,000 worth of lighting installed.

"The lights will give the centre an international standard lighting system," he said. "Supplied by electrical wholesalers, TLE, a MMMetals subsidiary, the system will be the first in Australia to boast an eight-pole arrangement for even spread of light, less glare and superb player comfort."

Mr Manning said the field will have vertical draining which will be able to cope with up to 20 litres per square metre per minute without ponding.

"This allows play to continue within minutes of the heaviest downpour," he said "After a brief settling period, the field will resemble a perfect green field, with no maintenance costs and perfect performances."

Mr Manning said suppliers and contractors working on the project are: Astrograss (surface), Forbes Rigby (civil engineering consultant), Steensen Varming (electrical engineering consultant), Cleary Bros (civil contractor), TLE Electrical (lighting suppliers) and MM Cables (cable supplier).

SEEN THROUGH THE EYES of two minor characters from Shakespeare's Hamlet, Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead is a skilful satire of the tragedy of Hamlet. In this three-act comedy, Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are portrayed as two cavalier characters who present a mocking, almost irreverent, perception to the proceedings around them. Stanwell Park Amateur Theatre's award-winning team of director Ed Hills and actors Erick Mitsak and Chris Jones have again teamed up to provide an excellent high standard of theatre. Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead can be seen at the CWA Hall, Stanwell Park, on Friday April 5 at 8pm, Saturday April 6 at 8pm and Sunday April 7 at 6pm and also at Theatre Space, University of Wollongong, on Friday and Saturday April 12 and 13 at 8pm. Tickets are available by phone: (042) 84 5239 or through Stanwell Park Newsagency, Thirroul Newsagency and Stewart's Shoe Store, Helensburgh. Cost: $10 and $7 conc.

THEATRE South's first offering for 1991 is about two ballroom dancers. This couple find themselves out of step and they have to learn some new steps. Wallflowering is a warm gentle comedy by a young Australian writer Peta Murray. It was first performed in 1989, had a successful season in the Sydney Festival. The Wollongong production stars Bruce Barry and Faye Montgomery. Wallflowering is playing at The Bridge Theatre until April 13. Bookings can be made on (042) 29 6144 or (042) 29 6758.

Lawyer of year award

THE Faculty of Law at the University of Wollongong is inviting nominations for The 1991 Illawarra Lawyer of the Year Award.

The award publicises the year-round professional and community work of the legal profession by rewarding the voluntary work of one outstanding solicitor.

Solicitors have traditionally done a great deal of voluntary work for charities, community groups and needy individuals, especially in giving help to the elderly, children and the underprivileged.

Solicitors have also distinguished themselves individually by the quality of their professional assistance to clients, their level of service and their contribution to legal practice and legal education.

If you would like to nominate a solicitor contact the Professional Development Officer, The Faculty of Law, University of Wollongong, PO Box 1144, Wollongong NSW 2500

The closing date for nominations is Friday, April 12.

For more information on the award, ring Kari Kristiansen, Faculty of Law, University of Wollongong on (042) 21 3456.

Graduates Group expects exciting year

SECRETARY of the Graduates Group of the Friends of the University, Audrey Heycox, anticipates an exciting year for the group.

The group is looking forward to an affiliation with the new University of Wollongong Alumni Association which will become constituted later this year.

It is anticipated that the Graduates Group will form the nucleus of an alumni chapter serving Wollongong and the Illawarra.

"For the past few years, the Graduates Group has functioned under the umbrella of the Friends of the University, many of its members being mature graduates who have felt the urge to contribute something to the university in return for their degrees as well as keeping in touch with the campus," she said.

"With the establishment of the Alumni Association, which has already brought together graduates in the Riverina, the ACT and Malaysia through receptions, it is expected that more of our younger graduates will realise the benefits of maintaining links with their alma mater."

Meetings of the Graduates Group are chaired by Michael Arrighi and are attended by several local graduates as well as by some University staff (Alumni Officer, Juliet Richardson; Careers and Appointments Officer, Patricia Webster; and Manager of the University's Student Services, Trevor Brew).

Meetings are held about every month to six weeks in the University Administration Building at 5.30pm on a Wednesday. Any graduates from Wollongong are invited to come along.

A major project for 1991 is the organisation of the annual meeting of the Australian University Graduate Council, which is to be hosted jointly by the Graduates Group and the Alumni Association in October.

This conference will bring to Wollongong representatives from the graduate organisations of universities all over Australia and some from overseas.

An ongoing project of the group is the secondhand booksale.

After the success of such sales on University Open Days, the group, under the leadership of Marjory Macdonald, has established a 'book shop' at Campus East (opposite the Science Centre) which is open Saturday and Sunday afternoon on the last full weekend of every month, except December and January.

Donations of unwanted books and good magazines are gratefully accepted.

If you are a graduate of Wollongong University and would like to find out more about other projects planned by the group, or you may have ideas to contribute, why not consider attending a forthcoming Graduates Group meeting?

Enquiries may be directed to the Friends' Administrative Assistant, Karen Chisholm, on (042) 21 3110, or to the Alumni Officer, Juliet Richardson, on (042) 21 3249.

Important overseas visitors

THE University had two recent international visitors, Dr Apinan Poshyananda and Professor Ganji Doust.

Dr Apinan, Deputy Dean for Research and Foreign Affairs in the Faculty of Fine Arts at Chulalongkorn University in Thailand, visited the University on March 19.

Dr Apinan was sponsored by the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade on an academic award program. He has taught at Cornell University, where he obtained his PhD for a thesis on modernism and modern art in Thailand during the 19th and 20th centuries.

The University has a twinning agreement with Chulalongkorn University. Under this agreement several staff members are studying for their doctorates at Wollongong, including one in Creative Arts.

Dr Apinan spent much of his day with the School of Creative Arts discussing the possibilities of further exchange between the two universities.

On March 22 Professor Ganji Doust, the Vice-President of Academic Affairs from Tarbait Modarres University in Tehran, visited the University to sign a twinning agreement.

The agreement had its origins with Associate Professor Noel Kennon's visit to Tehran early in 1990 on behalf of the International Development Program.

Tarbait Modarres University is exclusively a postgraduate institute, training senior people in masters and doctorates for positions in Iranian universities.

SIGNIFICANT changes to the University's cleaning practices and waste disposal system have taken place during the last three months.

A new, interim, cleaning agreement has been registered with the Federated Miscellaneous Workers Union, effective from December 1, 1990.

Cleaning Supervisor, Ross Hounslow, said the agreement is based on a pilot program that has been successfully completed in the ITC complex.

"The agreement embraces a significant productivity increase and new work methods that will permit the cleaning of all existing buildings, and those new buildings under construction, with little or no increase in costs," he said.

"Negotiations with the union representatives over quite a long time have been conducted in a most positive atmosphere and represent an excellent example of co-operative understanding in industrial relations.

"For our part we have given our undertaking that no redundancies will result from this agreement.

"In turn, the union has assured us of their support in implementing the changes implicit in these new arrangements."

He said that for the purpose of coordinating the agreement, campus has been divided into three areas of responsibility each with a crew chief in charge.

Should you have any queries or problems relating to the cleaning service in your area, contact your area crew chief located as follows:

Area 1 - Crew Chief Iain Murray,

Room G08 Bld 25, ext 3986.

Area 2 - Crew Chief Garry Watkins,
Room 115 Bld 4, ext 3260.

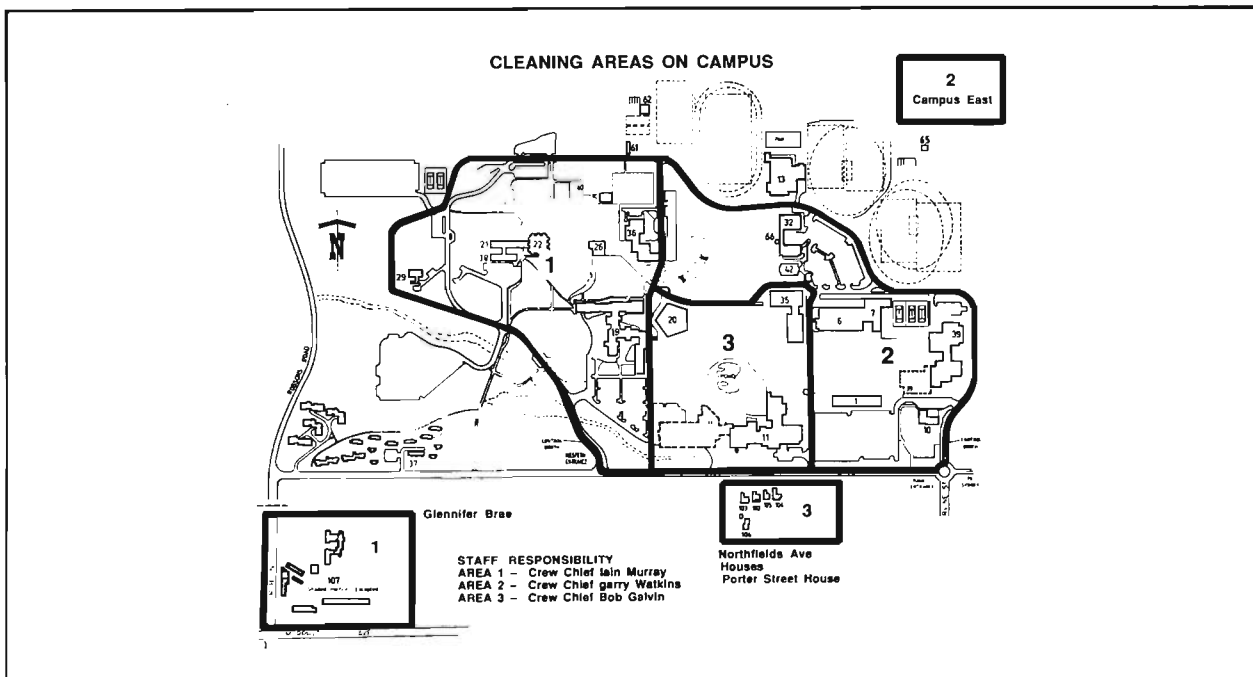

Area 3 - Crew Chief Bob Galvin,
Room G16 Bld 16, ext 3259.

The area crew chiefs can be contacted from 5.30am-1.30pm weekdays and can arrange the following services:

- (i) Inspection of cleaning requirements;
- (ii) Resolve cleaning enquiries;
- (iii) Furniture and equipment moving;
- (iv) Disposal of recyclable paper;
- (v) Disposal of confidential material (at cost to departments);
- (vi) Minor pest control problems (eg spiders, ants etc);
- (vii) Excess rubbish removal (at cost to Departments);
- (viii) Additional cleaning or Attendant duties upon request.

Mr Hounslow may be contacted on ext 3081 for clarification of matters arising from these new arrangements.

The new program will provide a domestic-type service to every building on campus (much like your service at home) for general rubbish via Thies Contractors 240 litre "wheelie" bins.

In addition GTC Recycling provide campus with clearly marked recycle - paper only 240 litre bins to collect quality waste paper only. These bins are not to be used for cardboard or handtowel paper. GTC also remove bulk cardboard from campus as required.

Exciting seminars in New Literatures Research Centre

THE New Literatures Research Centre in the Department of English is embarking on a varied seminar program for 1991.

The first event of the year was a recital and talk by the Australian Opera tenor John Pringle and his accompanist, David Miller.

The second event was a talk by the Visiting Fellow from University of Malaya, K S Maniam.

Associate Professor Maniam, the distinguished writer and academic from Malaysia, is a Visiting Fellow in the English Department at Wollongong.

He is a writer noted, not only for his novel The Return and several short stories and poetry, but also several plays.

The seminar he gave for the New Literatures Research Centre was on Malaysian and Singaporean Poetry in English - The Second Generation.

The centre is intending that the Tuesday seminars will become a highlight of the University month.

Other speakers already booked are the poet, Associate Professor Christopher Levenson, from Carleton University in Ottawa, and the author Dr Peter Hunt, a Visiting Fellow from the University of Wales, who will speak about children's literature.

It is also planned to have well-known Australian writer Robert Drewe whose book The Bodysurfer was filmed as a series and recently screened again on television.

The New Literatures Research Centre is also organising two film festivals this year.

The first, to be held in the Music Auditorium from May 31 to June 2, is entitled Feast on Film.

This festival will include several short Australasian films not on general release and will include the works of such well-known directors as Jane Campion (Sweetie) and Tracey Moffat (Nice Coloured Girls).

The second festival is to be held in September/October and will be a selection of Canadian films not normally shown in this country.
