Renowned dancers at opening of new theatre

OCTOBER will be an important month in the University calendar.

The Graduation Ceremonies will be held on Thursday, 10 and Friday, 11 October in the following order:

Thursday October 10: 10.45am Commerce; 2.30 pm Education, Informatics, Health & Behavioural Sciences, and Science

Friday October 11: 2.45pm Arts and Engineering

The Governor-General, The Honourable Bill Hayden AC, will deliver the Occasional Address at the Friday ceremony.

Mr Hayden will then officially open Building 40 - the home of the Commerce and Law Faculties and the new University Theatre.

All members of the University are invited to gather outside Building 40 near the theatre at 4.30pm to enjoy the special entertainment staged for the opening which will feature an outside performance (across the creek) by the Don Harper Big Band.

In the evening of October 11, visitors and guests will attend a gala concert to celebrate the opening of the new theatre.

Outstanding national artists including Graham Murphy and Janet Vernon from the Sydney Dance Company and well known musical performer Geraldine Turner have accepted invitations to perform at the opening.

Associate Artistic Director of the Sydney Dance Company, Janet Vernon. INSET: The company's Artistic Director Graeme Murphy. Vernon and Murphy will perform at the opening for the University's new theatre.

Brief News

THE current Dean of Students, Professor Murray Wilson, has indicated a wish to resign from that position as soon as a new appointment can be made.

The Vice-Chancellor is inviting expressions of interest from senior academics, male and female, in the University.

Deans' appointments are made from the ranks of Associate Professor and above. In exceptional circumstances an appointment at Senior Lecturer level might be considered, but the appointee will need to have enough personal skills to chair the Undergraduate Studies Committee successfully, to chair student appeals and to participate in senior forums of the University in ways which improve university functioning.

Expressions of interest, with an attached curriculum vitae, should reach the office of the Vice-Principal (Administration), Mr K. Baumber, by close of business on Friday, September 13.

Professor Murray Wilson

MANAGER of Personnel Services Branch, Chris Grange, will be absent on recreation leave until October 8.

In his absence, the following relief arrangements will apply.

- Robyn Weekes, to be Acting Manager, Personnel Services Branch.

THE University Singers have vacancies for tenors/high baritones. The choir rehearses on Tuesdays from 7.30-10pm.

Forthcoming performances include the opening of the new University Theatre on October 11 and orchestral/choral works on November 30. Anyone wishing to audition should contact David Vance by reply on e-mail or phoning, ext. 3591. Expressions of interest from all voice parts to join the choir are always welcome.

THE Bridge Recitals resume on Sunday September 15 at Bridge Theatre, Coniston.

The recital features opera stars John Pringle and Amanda Thane singing arias, duets and popular love songs.

Tickets are $22 (concession $12).

On Sunday, November 10, Sirocco, the internationally acclaimed classic-folk music ensemble, will provide a lively selection of music from around the world. Tickets are $28 (concession $18).

Special offer for both performances, $40 (prepaid full-price tickets only). Bookings to Margaret Sharrad, tel. 28 1843, or Bridge Theatre, tel. 29 6144.

THE Australian newspaper of August 20 reported that an Australian scientist is involved in studies being carried out in south-west Wales that could shed light on how the global environment works.

Ms Toni O'Neill, a senior lecturer in the Geography Department of the University of Wollongong, is working with researchers from five British universities and a Turkish scientific team on a survey of an upland forest, known as Dyfed, that covers about 596sq km around the Llyn Brianne reservoir.

The $432,000 study is a collaborative effort by NASA, the Natural Environment Research Council and the researchers.

Stephanie Short on major medical council

A LECTURER from the University of Wollongong has been appointed to a Federal Government committee to prepare a case for funding of $250 million for the National Health and Medical Research Council.

The newly-formed Research Strategy Committee will advise the National Health and Medical Research Council on the research policy for the council.

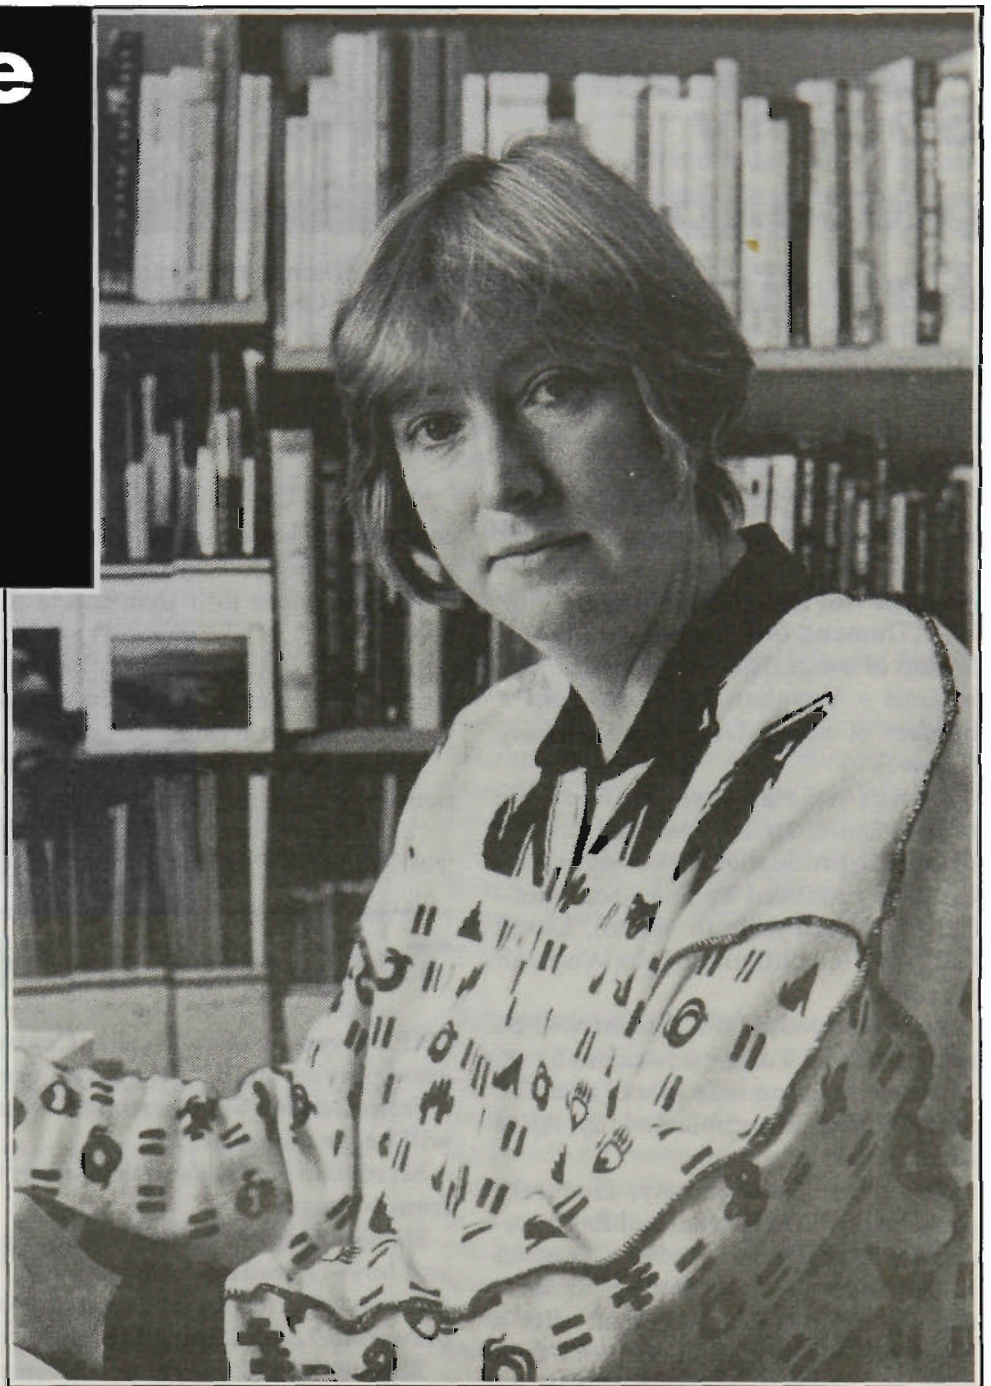

Stephanie Short, of the Sociology Department, is part of the committee established by the Department of Health, Housing and Community Services to advise Health Minister, Brian Howe, on the allocation of funds for health research for 1993-1995.

Ms Short has also been appointed to the ministerial panel to evaluate the National Better Health Program.

The goal of the $40 million National Better Health Program is to improve the health of Australians and to reduce inequalities in health between different groups in the population.

The evaluation panel will determine how successful the program has been in achieving its goals and recommend directions for future policies.

After working as a physiotherapist, Ms Short completed a Bachelor of Arts and a Master of Science and she has submitted a Ph. D. thesis. She has combined these two areas of work to become recognised as one of Australia's foremost health sociologists.

Stephanie Short

She is on several local, state and national committees and a consultant to various bodies to promote public health and health research.

Last month she was guest speaker at the National Medical Research Week dinner which led to widespread publicity on ABC radio and television.

As a result of the publicity leading up to the Research Week and her work on women's health issues, the Bulletin magazine contacted her for an article they were doing on hormone replacement therapy. Ms Short believes that much of this recognition is the result of a book, Health Care and Public Policy she co-authored in 1989.

It has been widely adopted as a text for post-graduate courses in health policy, health administration and sociology and widely cited in the health policy literature.

It was reprinted twice in 1990, and again in 1991 and publishers Macmillan Australia have requested a new edition be prepared for 1992.

CAMPUS NEWS is going into a mid-session break.

The last issue before the break is October 2. The copy deadline for this issue is Monday September 23 at 12.30pm.

The next issue after the break will be October 23.

The deadline for this issue is Monday October 14 at 12.30pm

Choral Society presents

Fair England

THE Illawarra Choral Society, under the direction of Faculty of Education's Lecturer in Music, Robert Smith, will present Fair England - a concert of choral music from and about England - in the School of Creative Arts Auditorium (Building 24) on Monday September 23 at 8pm.

Works will include Five Songs of England (Thiman), In Windsor Forest (a collection of songs from the opera Sir John in Love - Vaughan Williams) and a bracket of songs from My Fair Lady (Loewe).

Soloists in the latter work will be three of the leads to be featured in the upcoming production of the stage musical to be produced by The Arcadians - Patricia Worley-Smith (Eliza), David Gallagher (Doolittle) and John Wiseman (Freddie).

Also featured in the concert will be second year B. Ed. music student Leigh Morrison playing solo piano, and The Palm Court Ensemble led by Alice Fitzsummons.

President of the society, Honorary Principal Fellow, Mechanical Engineering, Dr Keith Enever, is always pleased to accept new prospective members from the community, and says that after a break of a fortnight following this September concert, the choir will resume practice in preparation for a December performance of Messiah (Handel) in the Wollongong Town Hall.

Friendly atmosphere shows at Open Day

THE questionnaires returned by visitors to our Open Day will be fully analysed and the results sent to departmental Open Day representatives to circulate among staff.

Meanwhile, a few gems:

"It has a wonderful selection of courses which are easy to follow. And I must say the food is brilliant."

"There's more to it than meets the eye."

"I realise that the University isn't just stuffy book learning, but has great practical things to do."

"...ankle biters gave the Uni a very homely and friendly atmosphere."

"...the Uni seems to be losing the 'reserved type attitude' and air of stuffiness it once had..."

"You organised the weather well!"

"Nachos from the cafe are very nice"

"It's fun, and there's heaps of intelligent people who do some good to our future jobs etc."

"Daddy said it's grown bigger"

"The campus looks great now the trees have grown"

"I didn't think it would be as unreal as it was, or offer as many courses. The food is GREAT!!!!"

"Very good idea to have an Open Day for the children to see what their futures could be like and not be worried."

"It has its act together. Catering for the future education of Australia. It's not a 'country bumpkin' kind of place."

Twilight at Hockey Centre

THE University's new Hockey Centre, which features Illawarra's first synthetic grass playing field, will be well used during the warmer months.

From October Summertime Sevens soccer and Summertime Sevens hockey will begin each week.

Men's and women's sevens soccer will be played each Thursday under lights from 6-10pm.

Hockey features junior sevens (ages 14-16) for girls (Mondays 5.30-8.30pm) and boys (Tuesdays 5.30-8.30pm).

Fridays are the nights for veterans sevens (35-50 years). Men and women will play from 7.30-10.30pm. On Sundays the competition is mixed from 6-9pm.

The centre will also run vacation coaching clinics from children under 16 at dates to be determined.

There will also be specialist goalkeeping clinics.

For more information contact Mark Shepherd, tel. 28 1266.

DEET funds guidelines available

THE University has received the initial DEET guidelines for 1992 Reserve Fund applications.

Copies have been circulated to the Deans. Additional copies are available from the Planning and Marketing Branch.

The University's internal closing date for applications is Monday, September 16.

Applications received after that date will not be eligible for a letter of support from the University.

Intending applicants should discuss their proposals with the Pro Vice-Chancellor, Professor Lauchlan Chipman, as soon as possible.

Completed applications should be submitted to Professor Chipman via an appropriate Dean or the Manager of the Planning and Marketing Branch.
