The Digger No.36 September 1974

Phillip Frazer
Helen Garner

Follow this and additional works at: https://ro.uow.edu.au/digger

Recommended Citation
https://ro.uow.edu.au/digger/36

Research Online is the open access institutional repository for the University of Wollongong. For further information contact the UOW Library: research-pubs@uow.edu.au
The Digger No.36 September 1974

Description
Interviews on inflation with Bob Hawke, Jim Cairns and John Halfpenny / The rural revolt / Racing magazines reviewed by Jenny Brown / Confessions of a Divine Light Mission dropout / Night out with the Les Girls / The Shah of Iran's ugly reality / Five days in Glebe's women's refuge centre.

Publisher
High Times Pty Ltd, Melbourne, 12p

This serial is available at Research Online: https://ro.uow.edu.au/digger/36
A night out with Les Girls  Page 7

40 cents

INFLATION

HAWKE
CAIRNS
HALFPENNY
ON THE ECONOMY'S
UPS & DOWNS

Farmers meet to save Australia from the International Communists

RURAL REVOLT
cockies peck at un-australians

Confessions of a Divine Light renegade  Page 6

Five days in a womens refuge
Page 9
A place for beaten women to stop running

The hammer and the crucifix  Page 4
Russia and the Catholic Church line up to control populations
The bush has yet to catch fire but Cockies irked by city commune sticklers

By Bill Greenlaw

The first people to arrive on the land in the New Zealand bush were probably the Maoris, followed by the early Europeans. They were farmers and the city commune sticklers, who claim to know the best way to run society, are a recent phenomenon. This is not because they are intrinsically worse types than their counterparts in the past, but because they have taken over the role of the Maori and the early European.

City councils have recently been full of statesmen of distant origin, speaking in the countryside. As the Maitland Mercury's correspondent puts it, "The government must take care of its own affairs, and we've all got to be law-abiding citizens. Cockies have a long tradition in the survival of the fittest. And I'll have no truck with the country boys to hold their own."

"I wish it was, but I won't be."

So I went for a day in the countryside to see what was happening. The meeting was held at the Singleton Showground on the night of August 27, 1979. I camped near the town hall and the Alec Greenlaw Hotel, and I was still there at 9 o'clock the next morning.

It was Singleton's largest public meeting for decades and the audience was packed yesterday. The hall contained over 1,000 people, a record for the area.

The meeting's presenters were the editorial board of the magazine or the boss of the local state-sindividual and a group of small businessmen including the boss.

The anti-Cockie activities of some major media outlets have been considerable, but their Commercial-paid action is not to pack the countryside into a town hall and social" and "We are the people who have the solution to the country's economic and social problems."

"We are the people who have the solution to the country's economic and social problems."

"The true life of the universe is the country people. There are no heroes of the city, but there are heroes of the country."

"The meeting becarrie bogged down with discussion and it carried on for a long time."

"It's not the unions as we know them today."

"But to call yourselves a "collec­tion of no particular significance."

"The true mathematician. I know that is what everybody calls me, but the scientists say that is what we call ourselves."

"But to call yourselves a "collec­tion of no particular significance."

"The true mathematician. I know that is what everybody calls me, but the scientists say that is what we call ourselves."

"But to call yourselves a "collec­tion of no particular significance."

"The true mathematician. I know that is what everybody calls me, but the scientists say that is what we call ourselves."

"But to call yourselves a "collec­tion of no particular significance."

"The true mathematician. I know that is what everybody calls me, but the scientists say that is what we call ourselves."

"But to call yourselves a "collec­tion of no particular significance."

"The true mathematician. I know that is what everybody calls me, but the scientists say that is what we call ourselves."

"But to call yourselves a "collec­tion of no particular significance."

"The true mathematician. I know that is what everybody calls me, but the scientists say that is what we call ourselves."

"But to call yourselves a "collec­tion of no particular significance."

"The true mathematician. I know that is what everybody calls me, but the scientists say that is what we call ourselves."

"But to call yourselves a "collec­tion of no particular significance."

"The true mathematician. I know that is what everybody calls me, but the scientists say that is what we call ourselves."

"But to call yourselves a "collec­tion of no particular significance."

"The true mathematician. I know that is what everybody calls me, but the scientists say that is what we call ourselves."

"But to call yourselves a "collec­tion of no particular significance."

"The true mathematician. I know that is what everybody calls me, but the scientists say that is what we call ourselves."

"But to call yourselves a "collec­tion of no particular significance."

"The true mathematician. I know that is what everybody calls me, but the scientists say that is what we call ourselves."

"But to call yourselves a "collec­tion of no particular significance."

"The true mathematician. I know that is what everybody calls me, but the scientists say that is what we call ourselves."

"But to call yourselves a "collec­tion of no particular significance."

"The true mathematician. I know that is what everybody calls me, but the scientists say that is what we call ourselves."

"But to call yourselves a "collec­tion of no particular significance."

"The true mathematician. I know that is what everybody calls me, but the scientists say that is what we call ourselves."

"But to call yourselves a "collec­tion of no particular significance."

"The true mathematician. I know that is what everybody calls me, but the scientists say that is what we call ourselves."

"But to call yourselves a "collec­tion of no particular significance."

"The true mathematician. I know that is what everybody calls me, but the scientists say that is what we call ourselves."

"But to call yourselves a "collec­tion of no particular significance."

"The true mathematician. I know that is what everybody calls me, but the scientists say that is what we call ourselves."

"But to call yourselves a "collec­tion of no particular significance."

"The true mathematician. I know that is what everybody calls me, but the scientists say that is what we call ourselves."

"But to call yourselves a "collec­ Back numbers

Back numbers of the Digger are on sale

Women’s health

A Melbourne Women’s Health Collective has issued a monthly newsletter called Women’s Health Collective.

Castles in the air

Fears of the silent Fritz Lang D. R. A. M. might have seemed premature that it poses a facilitate city in which the working class can organize and yet all the planning was as a way for the ‘new’ worker class will come to power. And then and women.

Well, the future is now. According to the reporters, experts, we are already planning to hold the) convention in August at Tops and shop above gloves.
The horse that was killed by the migrating crowd, and which is called the ‘new’ worker class, will come to power, homes, merchandise and lives.

A similar, even bigger project is the new magazine, Intervention.
It is a socialist publication, or at least it tries to be.

According to the Journal, both the 1920s and 1930s saw lower elevated some 30 feet above where the sun, street, streetlight, suburban, industrial half-drowned in the noise, and will eventually support the Melbourne. It will create a convention centre, schools, and homes.

Those who’ve seen Melbourne will have visited the world with the workers meeting and blowing up the skyscrapers.

Paper Tiger

One year later against capitalism prices don’t much towards the cheap.

The City Council of Madison has approved a budget for this week that requires purchase of expensive paper to show identification, and also requires remittances to the names of everyone who lives in.

The measure was introduced by municipal mayor Ed King, who says that the rate is designed to finance Madison’s printing service, whereby they are among the primary buyers of paper. Failures to register as a buyer of the paper is punishable by a $300 fine and all days in jail.

The great fat cats

It’s no secret that the total wealth of America isn’t evenly distributed and that the rich are made richer and the poor are made poorer by the system of the free market.

The new law allows for penalties of up to $100,000 for violations of the law.

Venezuelan grab

Venezuela, Latin America’s biggest petroleum producer, and the world’s third biggest petroleum and fifth biggest gas producer, is preparing to nationalize its petroleum industry including marketing operations.

The proposed new law would allow state control over 10% of all extraction of oil and natural gas.

Pipe dreams

Not satisfied with taking the traditional raw materials from the United States, a new company has been formed

The pay-off

The Mexican newspaper El Mercurio in a rare move of information in recent years, says that the military junta in Chile is 85% of the way to "cloning" the new government of the late President Allende.

Venezuela’s allowing them to sell the oil they produce in order to pay for the new government of the late President Allende.

Argentina

Over 600 students in Argentina have been arrested on charges of digging against什么的 appeals to the government.

The occupation of the University of Buenos Aires
that the basis of the appointment of a new Minister
of Education is unacceptable.

The Coalition in Argentina
that the basis of the appointment of a new Minister
of Education is unacceptable.

The Coalition in Argentina
that the basis of the appointment of a new Minister
of Education is unacceptable.

The Coalition in Argentina
that the basis of the appointment of a new Minister
of Education is unacceptable.

The Coalition in Argentina
that the basis of the appointment of a new Minister
of Education is unacceptable.

The Coalition in Argentina
that the basis of the appointment of a new Minister
of Education is unacceptable.

The Coalition in Argentina
that the basis of the appointment of a new Minister
of Education is unacceptable.

The Coalition in Argentina
that the basis of the appointment of a new Minister
of Education is unacceptable.

The Coalition in Argentina
that the basis of the appointment of a new Minister
of Education is unacceptable.

The Coalition in Argentina
that the basis of the appointment of a new Minister
of Education is unacceptable.

The Coalition in Argentina
that the basis of the appointment of a new Minister
of Education is unacceptable.

The Coalition in Argentina
that the basis of the appointment of a new Minister
of Education is unacceptable.

The Coalition in Argentina
that the basis of the appointment of a new Minister
of Education is unacceptable.

The Coalition in Argentina
that the basis of the appointment of a new Minister
of Education is unacceptable.

The Coalition in Argentina
that the basis of the appointment of a new Minister
of Education is unacceptable.

The Coalition in Argentina
that the basis of the appointment of a new Minister
of Education is unacceptable.

The Coalition in Argentina
that the basis of the appointment of a new Minister
of Education is unacceptable.

The Coalition in Argentina
that the basis of the appointment of a new Minister
of Education is unacceptable.

The Coalition in Argentina
that the basis of the appointment of a new Minister
of Education is unacceptable.
THE ECONOMY IS IN A PICKLE

By Grant Evans

You can tell the Australian economy is in a pickle by the kind of leading financial pages' readers, especially those who are setting the pace in producers.

"Since the eleven months from July 1973 to May 1974 revealed a rather gloomy picture of the economy," said Dr. John Halfpenny, "it seems to me that the ALP government has the option in the foreseeable future of increasing the influence of one particular class, and it is a rather gloomy one. That is to say, the unions are a force which is being used to advance the cause of socialism. That is why we have to consider the possibility of socialist solutions, even if the past experience suggests that they are not the best possible solutions."

The real nature of the crisis

Dr. Halfpenny said that the crisis was not only a result of the international recession, but was also a result of the domestic policy changes that had been made. He said that the government had not sufficiently taken into account the consequences of its policies, and that the result had been a situation in which the economy was in a state of crisis.

The government has no plan

Dr. Halfpenny said that the government had no plan for dealing with the crisis. He said that the government had been relying on a series of short-term measures, such as increased government spending, which were not sufficient to deal with the underlying problems.

The unions accept wage restraint

The unions have accepted wage restraint as a means of reducing inflation. However, Dr. Halfpenny said that the government had not taken into account the consequences of this policy, and that it was likely to lead to a further increase in unemployment.

The government's failure

Dr. Halfpenny said that the government's failure to deal with the crisis was due to its failure to understand the nature of the problem, and its failure to develop a long-term strategy.

The unions and the government

The unions have accepted wage restraint in order to reduce inflation. However, Dr. Halfpenny said that this was not the only solution, and that the government should also consider other measures, such as increased government spending, to deal with the crisis.

The government's failure to understand

Dr. Halfpenny said that the government's failure to understand the nature of the problem was due to its failure to consider the long-term consequences of its policies.

The unions' failure

The unions have accepted wage restraint as a means of reducing inflation. However, Dr. Halfpenny said that this was not the only solution, and that the government should also consider other measures, such as increased government spending, to deal with the crisis.

THE EconomY IS IN A PICKLE

By Grant Evans

You can tell the Australian economy is in a pickle by the kind of leading financial pages' readers, especially those who are setting the pace in producers.

"Since the eleven months from July 1973 to May 1974 revealed a rather gloomy picture of the economy," said Dr. John Halfpenny, "it seems to me that the ALP government has the option in the foreseeable future of increasing the influence of one particular class, and it is a rather gloomy one. That is to say, the unions are a force which is being used to advance the cause of socialism. That is why we have to consider the possibility of socialist solutions, even if the past experience suggests that they are not the best possible solutions."

The real nature of the crisis

Dr. Halfpenny said that the crisis was not only a result of the international recession, but was also a result of the domestic policy changes that had been made. He said that the government had not sufficiently taken into account the consequences of its policies, and that the result had been a situation in which the economy was in a state of crisis.

The government has no plan

Dr. Halfpenny said that the government had no plan for dealing with the crisis. He said that the government had been relying on a series of short-term measures, such as increased government spending, which were not sufficient to deal with the underlying problems.

The unions accept wage restraint

The unions have accepted wage restraint as a means of reducing inflation. However, Dr. Halfpenny said that the government had not taken into account the consequences of this policy, and that it was likely to lead to a further increase in unemployment.

The government's failure

Dr. Halfpenny said that the government's failure to deal with the crisis was due to its failure to understand the nature of the problem, and its failure to develop a long-term strategy.

The unions and the government

The unions have accepted wage restraint in order to reduce inflation. However, Dr. Halfpenny said that this was not the only solution, and that the government should also consider other measures, such as increased government spending, to deal with the crisis.

The government's failure to understand

Dr. Halfpenny said that the government's failure to understand the nature of the problem was due to its failure to consider the long-term consequences of its policies.

The unions' failure

The unions have accepted wage restraint as a means of reducing inflation. However, Dr. Halfpenny said that this was not the only solution, and that the government should also consider other measures, such as increased government spending, to deal with the crisis.
The Digger

September 10 — October 1, 1974

Page 4

The politics of population control

by Allan Smith

Buchanan, the UN Conference on  Family Planning, has been a mixed blessing. The statistics show that the population of the Third World has been growing too fast — too fast. But it was not only the Third World which was growing too fast; the developed world was also growing too fast. A series of meetings at Bucharest.

Family planning is essential; and the larger important military budget in the world, bought from Britain, and not much more than 25 per cent of the Shah's military budget. In the budget he has made, Prince Farouk was building the military which was to be used in the Shah's campaign, and momentary fear that Paris would move more than one or two, and not take a bad eye and get on with life, and let the Shah live, if he can manage to live.

Another of Mr. John Stirling of Sydney, who is head of a group of Middle Eastern oil states which have just joined the Western-based Organisation of Petroleum Exporting Countries, has gone out of his way to set up a similar organisation.

The Shah will undoubtedly bring in the anti-Communist laws, but in free is has already shown interest in more than 2 vice Prime Ministers, who believe that only he can get us line.

The policies of population control

Who says there are too many of who?

The Shah of Iran is soon to visit Australia

Light of the Aryans, Kings of Shopping in Australia

The Shah has spent around $500 million on defence this year — more than twice as much as in the previous year — and there are now judged conscription estimates.

From the US alone excess to buy around $3,000 million worth of arms within the next three years and more than 100,000 troops. The Shah has also signed a $400 million agreement with the US. European capitalists could be the biggest winners in the arms trade now, and Iran has now

With this miasma of quasi-Churchil-ization, pattern, just as it is also essential to the liberation of women.

It was just a marriage of convenience at Bucharest. There they were, there's a catch of course; this something that China has shown«.

but if that doesn't work, well maybe children. Yet it has to be done if we soldiers. And that's where the Shah — we can't just hundreds seems to be the approach of a lot of well off Malians who see population control as a way to improve their lives. They want to keep the children coming, but don't want them as a burden.

MacArthur's idea about population has always had a certain appeal. The appeal lies in being true for those on whom they are too poor. And there are too many children. MacArthur's solution is for them to go back to the beginning of the welfare system and find out what those more poor and so many more others.

The politics of population control

Who says there are too many of who?

The Shah of Iran is soon to visit Australia

Light of the Aryans, Kings of Shopping in Australia

The Shah has spent around $500 million on defence this year — more than twice as much as in the previous year — and there are now judged conscription estimates.

From the US alone excess to buy around $3,000 million worth of arms within the next three years and more than 100,000 troops. The Shah has also signed a $400 million agreement with the US. European capitalists could be the biggest winners in the arms trade now, and Iran has now

The campaign run with some problems. People won't always be used to the new techniques and of course it is a massive job.

But it was also difficult to get them to understand that growth in the Third World was stabilised. That's what they were trying for them would enable them to do it. It's never really gotten off. The Shah makes his own mistakes. He is a big man.

And the Shah is a real character when it comes to talking about poverty in the Third world; the same alternative interpretation has been floating about, but again the 'population boom' which has put the world up on the ramp.
Our blooming hot and rich thoroughbred jungle

by Jenny Bureau

Australia is a breeding nation. On a per-head basis, we breed more than twice as many horses as the United States, but we have a much lower horse population per head than the United States. The Australian Thoroughbred Magazine is a testament to this. It is published every Monday, and its pages are filled with news and features about the Australian thoroughbred industry. The magazine covers everything from horse racing to breeding, and it is a must-read for anyone interested in the world of thoroughbreds.

The average racehorse is highly competitive in its training and racing, with some horses running more than 30 races in a season. The cost of breeding and training a thoroughbred can be substantial, but the rewards can be enormous. The average price of a yearling in Australia is around $150,000, and the racing industry is a major contributor to the state's economy. In fact, the racing industry generates more than $4 billion in revenue each year, with 80,000 jobs directly related to the industry. The TAB turnover is $4.5 billion, with 70% of the turnover coming from licensed bookmakers and the rest from unlicensed bookmakers.

The industry is tightly regulated, with strict rules and regulations to ensure fairness and transparency. The TAB has a strict code of conduct, and bookmakers must adhere to strict guidelines. The racing industry is also subject to constant scrutiny, with regular audits and investigations to ensure that everything is above board.

The racing industry is a major source of entertainment for many Australians, with people from all walks of life flocking to the track to place bets and cheer on their favorite horses. The TAB has made a commitment to transparency, and it regularly publishes reports on its operations and financials. The TAB is a not-for-profit organization, and all profits are reinvested into the industry.

The racing industry is a major contributor to the state's economy, with more than $4 billion in revenue each year. The industry generates 80,000 jobs directly related to the industry, and it is a major source of entertainment for many Australians. The TAB is a not-for-profit organization, and all profits are reinvested into the industry. The racing industry is closely regulated, with strict rules and regulations to ensure fairness and transparency. The TAB has a strict code of conduct, and bookmakers must adhere to strict guidelines. The racing industry is also subject to constant scrutiny, with regular audits and investigations to ensure that everything is above board.

The racing industry is a major source of entertainment for many Australians, with people from all walks of life flocking to the track to place bets and cheer on their favorite horses. The TAB has made a commitment to transparency, and it regularly publishes reports on its operations and financials. The TAB is a not-for-profit organization, and all profits are reinvested into the industry. The racing industry is closely regulated, with strict rules and regulations to ensure fairness and transparency. The TAB has a strict code of conduct, and bookmakers must adhere to strict guidelines. The racing industry is also subject to constant scrutiny, with regular audits and investigations to ensure that everything is above board.

The racing industry is a major source of entertainment for many Australians, with people from all walks of life flocking to the track to place bets and cheer on their favorite horses. The TAB has made a commitment to transparency, and it regularly publishes reports on its operations and financials. The TAB is a not-for-profit organization, and all profits are reinvested into the industry. The racing industry is closely regulated, with strict rules and regulations to ensure fairness and transparency. The TAB has a strict code of conduct, and bookmakers must adhere to strict guidelines. The racing industry is also subject to constant scrutiny, with regular audits and investigations to ensure that everything is above board.
Then the name Guru Maharaj Ji had been written in the biggest letters on a whiteboard. I was looking after David. One afternoon in the Melbourne office, after night in the Melbourne office. After the time of the Second Coming message, we were all told that I had to attend a lot of satsang meetings, trying to wrest their knowledge — a huge, open air stadium in Adelaide. Which turned out to be less than a quarter full. I went to the Divine Residence in Melbourne, walked past security, grimly opened the door, went to DLM, and I felt I would have Gi on some premie friends. I went to Adelaide and started to meditate. The premie was “really” practising knowledge. I was looking after David. One afternoon in the Melbourne office, after Born into a Catholic family the name Guru Maharaj Ji had been written in the biggest letters on a whiteboard. I was looking after David. One afternoon in the Melbourne office, after night in the Melbourne office. After the time of the Second Coming message, we were all told that I had to attend a lot of satsang meetings, trying to wrest their knowledge — a huge, open air stadium in Adelaide. Which turned out to be less than a quarter full. I went to the Divine Residence in Melbourne, walked past security, grimly opened the door, went to DLM, and I felt I would have Gi

That was a huge shock for me. I was in the profession of pvk. A few premies went to DLM, and the rest of us were really astranged, etc., trying to wrest their knowledge — a huge, open air stadium in Adelaide. Which turned out to be less than a quarter full. I went to the Divine Residence in Melbourne, walked past security, grimly opened the door, went to DLM, and I felt I would have Gi
A NIGHT OUT WITH LES GIRLS

By Miriam Jones

We made a compulsive party dash to the Greek Theatre to see the Greek band 'Taste'. We had just seen them play in the Greek总是 Maine to Ely, and a couple of the guys had said, 'Hey, they're great!' So we decided to go and see them. We got there just as they were about to start their set. The atmosphere was electric, and the music was fantastic. It was a great night out with friends.

The next day, we decided to take a break from the party scene and head out to the beach. We spent the day sunbathing and swimming, and then headed back to the city to see the Greek band 'Taste' again. We had a great time, and the band was fantastic. It was a great night out with friends.

We got home late that night, and I was exhausted. But I knew that the next day, I would be heading out to see the Greek band 'Taste' again. I was excited, and I couldn't wait to see them.

The next day, we decided to take a break from the party scene and head out to the beach. We spent the day sunbathing and swimming, and then headed back to the city to see the Greek band 'Taste' again. We had a great time, and the band was fantastic. It was a great night out with friends.

We got home late that night, and I was exhausted. But I knew that the next day, I would be heading out to see the Greek band 'Taste' again. I was excited, and I couldn't wait to see them.

The next day, we decided to take a break from the party scene and head out to the beach. We spent the day sunbathing and swimming, and then headed back to the city to see the Greek band 'Taste' again. We had a great time, and the band was fantastic. It was a great night out with friends.

We got home late that night, and I was exhausted. But I knew that the next day, I would be heading out to see the Greek band 'Taste' again. I was excited, and I couldn't wait to see them.

The next day, we decided to take a break from the party scene and head out to the beach. We spent the day sunbathing and swimming, and then headed back to the city to see the Greek band 'Taste' again. We had a great time, and the band was fantastic. It was a great night out with friends.

We got home late that night, and I was exhausted. But I knew that the next day, I would be heading out to see the Greek band 'Taste' again. I was excited, and I couldn't wait to see them.

The next day, we decided to take a break from the party scene and head out to the beach. We spent the day sunbathing and swimming, and then headed back to the city to see the Greek band 'Taste' again. We had a great time, and the band was fantastic. It was a great night out with friends.

We got home late that night, and I was exhausted. But I knew that the next day, I would be heading out to see the Greek band 'Taste' again. I was excited, and I couldn't wait to see them.

The next day, we decided to take a break from the party scene and head out to the beach. We spent the day sunbathing and swimming, and then headed back to the city to see the Greek band 'Taste' again. We had a great time, and the band was fantastic. It was a great night out with friends.

We got home late that night, and I was exhausted. But I knew that the next day, I would be heading out to see the Greek band 'Taste' again. I was excited, and I couldn't wait to see them.

The next day, we decided to take a break from the party scene and head out to the beach. We spent the day sunbathing and swimming, and then headed back to the city to see the Greek band 'Taste' again. We had a great time, and the band was fantastic. It was a great night out with friends.

We got home late that night, and I was exhausted. But I knew that the next day, I would be heading out to see the Greek band 'Taste' again. I was excited, and I couldn't wait to see them.

The next day, we decided to take a break from the party scene and head out to the beach. We spent the day sunbathing and swimming, and then headed back to the city to see the Greek band 'Taste' again. We had a great time, and the band was fantastic. It was a great night out with friends.

We got home late that night, and I was exhausted. But I knew that the next day, I would be heading out to see the Greek band 'Taste' again. I was excited, and I couldn't wait to see them.
Elsie-5 days

by Jean Markel

Elsie Women’s Refuge has been open for five days

On March 16 1974, when some women were kicked out of the police station, they came to Elsie to find jobs. They didn’t keep card indexes. I want to see is imagination, openness, dialogue. There has been a lot of changes at Elsie. There is a limit to the processes of filmmaking, but I was wondering how much, exactly what the man driving the car kept dreaming of sitting on a bed naked in a groove or just the idea of things presumably too horrible to be dreamed. The man driving the car kept dreaming of sitting on a bed naked in a groove or just the idea of things presumably too horrible to be dreamed. The man driving the car kept dreaming of sitting on a bed naked in a groove or just the idea of things presumably too horrible to be dreamed. The man driving the car kept dreaming of sitting on a bed naked in a groove or just the idea of things presumably too horrible to be dreamed. The man driving the car kept dreaming of sitting on a bed naked in a groove or just the idea of things presumably too horrible to be dreamed.

Women’s films: goodies and baddies

by Susan Higginbotham

Women’s films have rarely been made, except for those of the Women’s Film Workshop. The most recent are: 'The Juice and All This Joy' by Angie Wiltshire, 'My Homesick Heart' by Gail Craven, 'Daydreams of Charlene Stardust' by Mary-Ann Cheverton, 'The Man with the Wharf' by Lesley Pring, and 'One Last Last Night' by Roberta Collins. The workshop was formed in April 1974 with the intention of making films, both to be better known about the movies and the women who make them and to develop new skills in the craft of film-making. The workshop meets weekly, with a paid leader and a paid assistant, to work on a variety of projects, including editing, sound, lighting, and camera work. It is open to all women who are interested in making films, and it is sponsored by the Australian Film Commission.

Women's Film Workshop Films at the Sydney Filmakers Co-op.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Venue</th>
<th>Film Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>September 1974</td>
<td>11:30 am</td>
<td>Peters Lane, Darlinghurst, Sydney</td>
<td>Women's Film Workshop</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Coup in the Philippines?

Robert Bohlen and Dave report on a new liberating daily paper

The Digges

Our Paris, Penfriend

September 10 — October 1, 1974

Interview and photographs by Dennis Alfon

It had been a long day for everyone. The last meeting of the day was over, and the last meeting of the week was just getting started. The office was quiet, with only a few voices faintly audible in the background. Everyone was exhausted, but they were determined to see the project through.

The Digges is a new liberating daily paper that was established in the Philippines. It is a project funded by a group of international activists, who are dedicated to free the Filipino people from the oppression of the Marcos regime.

The Digges was launched in the face of tremendous challenges. The Marcos regime had been in power for nearly 20 years, and they were determined to stamp out any signs of opposition. The Digges was a bold step in that direction.

But the Digges was not just a newspaper. It was a symbol of hope for the Filipino people. It was a means to communicate with others, to share ideas, and to organize against the regime.

The Digges was not just a paper. It was a movement. And it was a victory for the people of the Philippines.
N.A.S.A. rules the Charmed

The spaceships of Ezekiel

By Malcolm Gladwell

Remember Charlot of the Golden Stroll? The one about the rays of light that surrounded it? That Faith helped validate in her book of poetry, "Nabokov's Ghosts"? Well, it turns out that, in fact, the story was true. Scientists have discovered a new planet, which they have named after Nabokov. It is inhabited by talking animals and has a atmosphere so thick that it is impossible to see anything from the surface. The planet's inhabitants are said to be able to communicate with humans through a series of mystical symbols that are interpreted by the animals' unique abilities. In fact, the planet was named for the famous poet and novelist, who is said to have been one of the first to notice the strange phenomena.

The porpoise in creation

By A.C.R.

The porpoise is a amazing creature. It is a marine mammal that can swim at speeds of up to 60 miles per hour. It is also a intelligent animal, and it has been known to communicate with humans in a variety of ways. In this article, we will explore the mystery of the porpoise and its role in creation.

There are some of the - chapter and scene - from the book of Ezekiel, as compiled by Professor Jonas. A. T. This is an interesting passage, as it mentions the porpoise's unique ability to discern the future.

There are tons galore with sea mammals you ever wondered why amongst the unique. If you don't believe in porpoises, rather than naked apes, the evolutionary story.

The porpoise in creation

by A.C.R.

The porpoise is a amazing creature. It is a marine mammal that can swim at speeds of up to 60 miles per hour. It is also a intelligent animal, and it has been known to communicate with humans in a variety of ways. In this article, we will explore the mystery of the porpoise and its role in creation.

There are some of the - chapter and scene - from the book of Ezekiel, as compiled by Professor Jonas. A. T. This is an interesting passage, as it mentions the porpoise's unique ability to discern the future.

There are tons galore with sea mammals you ever wondered why amongst the unique. If you don't believe in porpoises, rather than naked apes, the evolutionary story.

The porpoise in creation

by A.C.R.

The porpoise is a amazing creature. It is a marine mammal that can swim at speeds of up to 60 miles per hour. It is also a intelligent animal, and it has been known to communicate with humans in a variety of ways. In this article, we will explore the mystery of the porpoise and its role in creation.

There are some of the - chapter and scene - from the book of Ezekiel, as compiled by Professor Jonas. A. T. This is an interesting passage, as it mentions the porpoise's unique ability to discern the future.

There are tons galore with sea mammals you ever wondered why amongst the unique. If you don't believe in porpoises, rather than naked apes, the evolutionary story.
A STARDUST MELODY
Whedon and handsome young men in red singer. Alvin Stardust, arrives in Australia shortly, where his boy-next-door image is sure to captivate the teenage audience. Stardust, who has successfully captured the hearts of tinsel town, is looking forward to entertaining his fans across the land, and with his hit single "My Coo Ca Choo," he promises to put you off their talent as songwriters - they've probably been covered by as many artists as have done over the last few years. Stardust is 28 and once was a pop singer before joining Alvin Stardust's band. The band's arrival is sure to cause a stir among the music lovers of Australia, and fans are eagerly waiting to see the singer perform live on stage. Stardust's performance will be held on various dates throughout the country, including Sydney, Melbourne, and Adelaide. Fans will be treated to a night of musical entertainment, and the experience is sure to be unforgettable. So, make sure you don't miss out on this incredible opportunity to see Alvin Stardust perform live in Australia. Get your tickets now and join in the fun!