FRIENDS "CREATION" MUSICAL HIGHLIGHT OF YEAR

The musical highlight of Wollongong's sesquicentenary will be Haydn's "Creation" sponsored by the Friends of the University and the BHP Group of Companies.

This two hour masterpiece of the choral art will be performed on Saturday 30 June in Wollongong Town Hall under the baton of David Vance.

Vance has drawn over 130 singers together from the choirs of the region, and individual singers of distinction. They have come from the Illawarra Choral Society, The University Campus Choir, The University Singers, the Conservatorium Madrigal Group, the St. Marks Church of England Choir, the Promusica Dutch Australian Choir, the German Ladies Choir and the San Souci German Male Choir.

Orchestral backing will be provided by the ABC Sinfonia - a 40 piece orchestra. The soloists will be Jennifer Bates (Soprano) John Main (Tenor) and Stephen Bennett (Bass).

There are many logistical problems in putting on this unprecedented performance in the Town Hall, and the experts of the 150th Anniversary Committee Ltd., have been asked to advise and assist with staging and lighting.

The BHP Group of Companies have set the pace in funding with a donation of $1,000 through the 150th Anniversary Committee. The remaining $6,000 needed to fund this peak in the 1984 musical calendar will be raised by the Friends of the University from among its 456 members.

Ald. Frank Arkell, Chairman of the Membership Committee of the Friends, will launch this biggest ever appeal to the Friends in the next few weeks.

"Each year we have asked the entire membership of the Friends to support a major public entertainment" said Ald. Arkell. "The Diggers Darling - the Theatre South Play about Evelyn Owen and The Owen Gun - was given to Wollongong by the Friends in this way."

"This time we are attempting", he said "to give Wollongong one of the greatest works of music ever composed, and I am sure that the Friends members will rise to this challenge and help to mark our 150th Anniversary in an unforgettable way."

Tickets at $5 and $3 concession will go on sale on 11 June. They will be available from the Town Hall Booking Office and the University Union.

WOLLONGONG AT ANZAAS.

Three important papers will be given by Wollongong academics at the ANZAAS Conference in Canberra starting 14th May. An abstract of each will be published in "Campus News" over the next three weeks. The first is printed below. It is by Chris Cook of the Department of Electrical & Computer Engineering, and it outlines the need for robot safety standards.

families. Robots can do this because of their great versatility, and it is this versatility, not possessed by conventional machinery, which introduces the need for the development of standards governing the safety of industrial robots. This is the second aspect of robot safety to be considered, and the one particularly addressed in a paper to be presented at the 1984 ANZAAS Conference.

There are two aspects of robot safety which should be emphasised. The first and most important is that robotic technology offers a powerful means of improving occupational health and safety by removing the need for humans to work in and tolerate hazardous, stressful, unhealthy environments. Robots can work in cancerous, hot dusty or fume filled atmospheres moving heavy, dangerous loads with no ill effect. They provide additional technical means of removing the causes of bad backs, tenosynovitis, etc., from the work place and so saving a great deal of distress to workers and their

In order to develop a practical Australian Standard as soon as is practical, representatives of several interested groups, including the Australian Electrical and Electronic Manufacturers' Association, the Australian Robot Association, the Standards Association of Australia and the Commonwealth Department of Science and Technology have met and agreed in principle to the formation of a committee to prepare a draft standard intended for wide circulation and comment. This Committee would welcome any comments which might aid this work. Any suggestions and information could be sent directly to Chris Cook, as Chairman of the Committee, at the University of Wollongong.

The fact that this work in Australian Safety Standards is being coordinated from Wollongong is a direct result of the proposed development of a National Centre for Automation in Wollongong. This is indicative of the way in which the active involvement of the Illawarra Region in high technology activities will allow the local area to exert a greater influence on where and how new technology is applied, instead of being on the receiving end of decisions made elsewhere.

ROBINSON AWARDED SINGAPORE FELLOWSHIP.

Dr. Ross Robinson, Reader in Geography, has been awarded a Research Fellowship in Australian/South-east Asian Relations by the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies (ISEAS) at the University of Singapore. The award has been made to enable him to complete a monograph on ASEAN Ports: the high price of nationalism? to be published by the Institute (or by a nominated commercial publisher).

The Fellowship will be for a total amount of $15,450 and will provide for travel around the ports of the ASEAN region and living allowance for the periods spent at the Institute and in the field. Dr. Robinson will spend two separate periods at the Institute. The first will be for one month from mid-September this year and the second, during most of the long University recess from mid-December this year. During this second period, about 4 weeks will be spent visiting the ASEAN ports, ministries, and shipping agents.

"COOLENDEL" WILDLIFE AND NATURE RETREAT CO-OPERATIVE

A day's canoeing down river from Kangaroo Valley or just 40 minutes drive from Nowra through Yalwal State Forest lies "Coolendel". This private wildlife refuge and very special nature retreat of 50 hectares, situated in rugged mountainous country, has been operated for the past 10 years as a private camping club. With the reluctant retirement of the present owners, the property is being offered to those of us who have known and loved it. We are looking for friends to join us in establishing a co-operative to purchase "Coolendel", and thus to keep it unspoiled, safe and secluded from the otherwise inevitable intrusion of commercial interests.

The land is surrounded by ideal bushwalking country and is on a bend of the Shoalhaven with wonderful swimming, canoeing and fishing. Wildlife abounds here with Lyrebirds, Wonga Pigeons, King Parrots, Gang Gang Cockatoos, Bower Birds, Wrens and Honeyeaters as well as Wallabies, Goannas and Wombats sharing the camp ground.

The river banks are covered in a lush low rain forest tangle of vines and creepers through which serene paths meander. "Fairies live here", my four year old told me once, and they do!

"Coolendel" currently has a farm house and two small holiday cabins situated away from a large, lightly wooded camping area. Amenities are adequate with hot showers available and with an expanded membership another amenities block would be established when necessary.

A committee appointed by the campers using the retreat to date is working out details of establishing the co-operative and at this stage we want to hear from friends who are keen to join us. At this stage it will cost as little as $1000 to join and thus to own a share of "Coolendel". It is envisaged this part-ownership will give unrestricted year round camping rights to members. If you want to ride trail bikes or to water-ski, sorry this is definitely not for you!

The committee does not want money yet but just wants to know of your interest so that we can register the co-operative with the Co-operatives Society.

Of course, membership will be limited and there aren't any other Coolendels around. Lets hear from you now please. Contact Chris Tennant (Sydney) 736 6784 or Max Green (Wollongong) (042) 56 1846 or Peter Bone (Nowra) 21 2995.

TOKYO WEEK

Tokyo Week is being held in Sydney from 7 - 16 May. Tokyo Fair '84 will be located in the Sydney Entertainment Centre, and a fireworks display will be held at Fort Dennison on 8th May from 7.30pm.
