BOB HARPER PRESENTS 'THE MANDRAKE'

Machiavelli's play 'The Mandrake' opened on Thursday, April 11, in the Drama Hut at the University of Wollongong.

It is the first of many entertaining productions planned by Bob Harper who was appointed this year as lecturer in drama at the School of Creative Arts.

The School was fortunate to attract Bob who brings with him a wealth of experience in directing and play-writing. Born in the U.S.A., Bob is now a permanent resident in Australia. Starting in theatre as a professional actor in 1948, he continued his career at Ohio Wesleyan University graduating with a Bachelor of Arts. After a two year sojourn as a First Lieutenant in the USAF during the Korean War, he continued his education at Yale University, graduating with a Master of Fine Arts in 1957. His first year in New York City he directed three plays.

Since then, he has directed between 350 and 400 full length productions, many in theatres, but a number in places not normally associated with drama, such as: the great pyramid in Egypt, the Statue of Liberty, a municipal ski slope, New York State Mall, Veale Gardens in North Terrace, Adelaide, a Roman play in the ruins of a Roman Theatre in Provence, several restaurants and pubs, and a cathedral.

He has directed an award winning television series, and co-directed an entry into the Cannes Film Festival.

His teaching assignments have taken him to Egypt, Lebanon, France, Greece, Monte Carlo, London, Stratford-on-Avon and of course, several American universities.

Bob Harper - a charcoal drawing by John Eveleigh

Bob has a catholic taste in theatre which extends from Burlesque to Grand Opera; from Greek Tragedy to the Theatre of the Absurd. He is especially interested in Music and Visual Arts as an integral part of theatre.

'The Mandrake' is a courtly renaissance romp full of romance and intrigue in the best tradition of Machiavelli. Music of 15th Century Italy is provided by Vanessa Woodhill's Renaissance Players.

For bookings phone 270987. As well as evening performances there will be two Sunday matinees.

COWIE'S "15 MINUTE AUSTRALIA"

(An extract from Neil Tierney's article in the U.K. Daily Telegraph is printed below, with due acknowledgement to both).

"Edward Cowie, the Royal Liverpool Philharmonic Society's composer-in-residence, took over the Philharmonic Hall rostrum on Saturday to conduct a Merseyside Youth Orchestra concert. The programme included the first performance of his "Fifteen-minute Australia", a suite for youth orchestra which he composed for and dedicated to the MTO and which has links with his recent working visit to the University of Wollongong.

"Comprising 14 brief "images", the score not only bustles with vitality, but introduces a few instrumental oddities. Using the orchestra mostly in groups, it conjures up such Australian scenarios as the blast furnace at the Wollongong steelworks, croaking frogs, Messiaen-like bird calls, and a football match enlivened by rattles, kazoos, whistles, chants and the boisterous cries of the young players themselves.

"Some of the colourful effects in the score remind me of Cowie's brilliant bird paintings where higgledy-piggledy lines of music create near-surrealistic patterns on the canvas. With the MYO applying the utmost energy, enthusiasm and skill, it all proved very appealing. But, on reflection, I felt the need for more variety of mood and evocation, a more resourceful and imaginative use by Cowie of the instruments at his command.

"The performance of Holst's 'The Planets' was distinctly below the high standard the MYO usually attains and it showed all the signs of not being properly rehearsed. There were fine things, including the blithe triplets of 'Mercury' and the steady horn solo at the beginning of 'Venus', but all too often in the big tuttis the heavy brass provided a partial shelter for untidy string phrasing."

VISIT OF WEST INDIAN POET

E.A. Markham, poet and an editor of 'Ambit', Britain's principal black literary magazine, will be visiting Wollongong from 15th to 18th April.

During his visit he will be speaking about West Indian poetry to students in the Faculty of Education and the Department of English Literature and Drama. He will also be talking about stereotypes at a meeting organized by the Centre for Multicultural Studies.

Mr. Markham is returning to the U.K. after spending two years in Papua New Guinea as a media consultant.

For further information please contact Professor R.G.T. Southall (telephone 285963).

A REPORT ON A FAUSA CONFERENCE ON WOMEN IN POST-SECONDARY EDUCATION

By Noeline Kyle

The FAUSA conference, held on 29-31 March 1985, was attended by a large number of women including two executive members of the University of Wollongong Staff Association, Ms. Nina Southall and Dr. Noeline Kyle.

The broader issues discussed at the conference included workforce training for women, promotion, conditions of employment, child care, equal employment opportunity and affirmative action. Of specific interest to women students and staff at universities and colleges was a discussion on the principle of 'merit' as it has been applied to promotion.

Peter Wilenski from the Public Service Board of New South Wales, outlined in his paper how arguments currently being promoted by opponents to equal employment opportunity were misleading and ignored some very obvious outcomes of past promotional practice. Apart from the many discriminatory practices which have been perpetuated in the past because of some vague idea of 'merit' there were some disadvantages for management as well. Such a vague idea of 'merit' as it has operated had the effect of selecting for similarity; in short, it was a cloning of the dominant male group. The cost to the universities and colleges had been a continuation of a narrow range of skills and interests and a set mode of behaviours which are unaware of and unresponsive to changing community needs.

Wilenski suggested that management should consider promoting the best combination of attributes for appointments. They should move toward diversity in a range of different appointments. Institutions need to clarify goals thus enabling them to make better decisions about appointments and in so doing should find that there is no one standard of merit that applies.

General Notices

UNIVERSITY OF WOLLONGONG UNION

Graduation ball will be held at the Union this year on Saturday, 4th May. Why not make up a party of friends and celebrate your graduation at the Ball - a great evening is assured. Arrangements are as follows:

BIG BROTHER IS ALIVE AND WELL AND LIVING AT SPSS INC.

(A true Computer Centre Story by Geoff Hamer)

Users of the SPSS-X (Statistics for Social Scientists) programs running in the Sperry - Univac mainframe may have noticed the rather sinister looking message at the end of their print-outs recently "Renewal of Software License ... Is Past Due ... Renew License with SPSS Inc Before Grace Period Expires", which started appearing during April.

Unfortunately, we do not know how long the grace period is. If it is one month, then the SPSS-X Program is the Sperry 1100 can be expected to "self-destruct" at the end of April unless they acknowledge receipt of our payment and advise us of the magic number to disable the Zap mechanism before then. Payment was air-mailed before Easter, so we live in hope. (Note that this does not affect SPSS Version 9, which is still being used by most people, and which, to the best of our knowledge, harbours no time-bomb).

The other bad news is that Steve Harrison, our Social Science Programme and SPSS expert, leaves on Friday, April 19th. We wish him well in his new career with Australasia Computer Services International (ACS) in Sydney. John Rickersey on ext. 3849 will look after SPSS for the time being, at least until we get re-organised.

The good news is that SCSS (the conversational version of SPSS) is now available from Sperry 1100 users and SPSS Graphics is on its way. We will make these products available to our users as soon as possible.

PROBLEMS WITH READING AND WRITING?

The Centre for Studies in Literacy will be conducting intensive courses in essay writing and reading for university purposes during the mid-year recess. This is a free service to all students and application forms are available by phoning 270973 before the end of June. Special assistance is also available for those students for whom English is a Second Language and who wish to improve their level of English literacy.

Individual tutorials and small group tutorials are also now available by appointment.

ADAB STEERING COMMITTEE INAUGURAL MEETING

By Kristin King of ADAB

As a result of a meeting on February 19, 1985 at Wollongong University, interest has been expressed by overseas student groups and community members in Wollongong in establishing an ADAB sponsored Co-ordinating Committee in the Wollongong region in order to promote cultural exchange between overseas students and the Australian community.

The first step in the process of establishing a Committee is to set up a steering committee. The tasks of a steering committee would be to establish a constitution for the proposed Co-ordinating Committee and arrange for a public meeting to call for nominations from community groups for the Committee.

It is envisaged that a steering committee would consist of about eight people who would then become members of the Co-ordinating Committee once it is established.

We are having a meeting for the purpose of setting up a steering committee on Tuesday, April 23 at 12.30 p.m. in the University Council Room.

Readers are invited to attend. Participation will not mean mandatory commitment so if you are interested but not wanting to become part of the steering committee, please attend anyway. We value your support. RSVP (02) 2124000.

GRADUATION

Invitations to the Graduation Ceremonies on 1st, 2nd and 3rd May have been forwarded to all members of the academic staff. They are reminded to forward their responses to Mrs. Faye Franklin, Academic and Student Services as soon as possible. This will ensure that guest tickets are provided if required and that provision is made for participation in the academic procession. It is most important that all intending participants in the academic procession notify that intention so that sufficient seating will be provided.

Details of procedures, as well as guest tickets, have been sent to all graduands who will be attending the ceremonies. Anyone who has not received this information within the next few days should telephone 270947 or 270799.

DISABLED STUDENTS

by B.C. Moldrich
University Secretary

Disabled students who feel that they have, or are likely to have, special problems associated with examinations are invited to contact Beth Urwin in the Counselling Centre (ext. 3592) or Harry Alla in the Examination Section (Student Administration, ext. 3925) by 10th May, 1985.

All enquiries will be treated in confidence.

YOUTH FOR UNDERSTANDING

by Les Phillips

In January 1986, through Youth for Understanding, a non-profit educational exchange program, 260 international students will be arriving in Australia from U.S.A., Europe, Canada, Scandinavia, South America and Japan. What we need in the Illawarra is 30 host families; these are the backbone of the organization. Being a host family is a rich and rewarding learning experience, the world coming into your home. If you have room in your lives for a young person from overseas, then why not take part in the magic of sharing another culture. In 1986 a rewarding experience can also be available to Australian high school students who would like to live overseas and go to school for 12 months in any of these countries. Youth for Understanding is now taking applications from students wishing to take part in this unique experience for 1986. Should either of these experiences appeal to you, "host family" or "student", please telephone Youth for Understanding's regional co-ordinator, Mrs. Val Kill on 845987.

THE BROADCASTERS BARBECUE - HELP BY ATTENDING

Illawarra Community Broadcasters are having a fund raising B-B-Q on Saturday 11th May, at 12.30 p.m.

to be held at the home of Sue and Rob Salmon, 20 Parrish Ave., Mt. Pleasant. Tickets at $12 per head include lunch, refreshments and entertainment, which will be provided by The Illawarra Folk Club. Tickets are available from Hugh Spencer: 270024 or Sue Salmon: 848468.

NATIONAL BANK LOANS FOR RETIREES

The National Australia Bank is planning to commence a new loan scheme for employees nearing retirement which may be of interest to University staff. The scheme is an interest only lending arrangement designed to operate within the following guidelines:

Purpose:

Any reasonable purpose would be considered.

Amount:

We would expect applications in excess of $100,000 to be the exception.

Term:

Full clearance from retirement benefits, or other sources, within 5 years.

Repayment:

Principal to be paid in one amount at the end of the term, however, interim reductions may be made at the borrower's option. Interest should be provided monthly, but applications to pay both principal and interest at the end of the term will also be considered. Additional security cover must be provided in this latter instance, to provide for the compounding nature of the debt in this type of loan.

Interest Rate:

Variable depending on proposal, but maximum of 16%.

Security:

A registered first mortgage over real property, with advances not to exceed 70% of the Bank's assessment of the market value of the property. Second mortgages will also be acceptable. The Bank will assess the lending equity available in the case of second mortgage security.

FIRST IN-HOUSE TRAINING WORKSHOP FOR GENERAL STAFF: "EFFECTIVENESS FOR SUPERVISORS"

On 21st and 22nd March, 1985, the first in-house training workshop was held on campus. The workshop was arranged through the Australian Institute of Management and was aimed at staff in supervisory positions. Nineteen members of staff, from a wide cross-section of the general staff on campus, participated.

A number of the workshop participants were somewhat hesitant prior to attending the workshop, as they felt this might be another of the so called "junket" courses. However, after the course positive responses were expressed by participants. The University Secretary said it was pleasing that participants found the course extremely worthwhile.

It is planned to offer the workshop again this year, at least once if not twice. The University is attempting to undertake, within the context of its budget and its own needs, a co-ordinated and planned programme of training and development for general staff.

Readers who are interested in obtaining further details of the workshop, or wish to discuss the workshop with one of the participants, may contact Wendy Raikes of the Staff Office, extension 3798.
