CAN OUR COURSES BE MARKETING OVERSEAS?

The Commonwealth Departments of Trade and Education and Youth Affairs are jointly studying the overseas market potential for Australian University courses as an export commodity. The objectives of the study are as follows:

- Australian service industries have traditionally shown a low level of export orientation. In recognition of the fact that services are set to become the major growth area of international trade the Services Trade and Export Facilitation Division of the Department of Trade is undertaking studies to promote the development and marketing of trade in Australian services.
- Education is viewed as a sector of Australia's domestic service industries which offers significant potential for development of export activity. The objective of this study is to identify and examine the opportunities which exist for Australian education to earn substantial income from exports of its services, both formal and non-formal.
- It is emphasised that the Department of Trade's aims in developing education services as an export item are premised on increasing the industry's export earnings whilst safeguarding the entitlements of Australian students and the quality of Australian education and without direct or indirect impost on the Australian taxpayer.

The scope and organisation of the project is as follows:

- The Department of Trade will be co-ordinating with the Department of Education in the study's assessment of the prospects for expansion of export of Australian education services.
- The study is being conducted by a project team including one or more special trade commissioners and Services, Trade and Export Facilitation Division officers in co-operation with the Overseas Student Office, reporting to a joint Departmental Steering Committee.

Initially the study will assess the nature and level of demand for all types of education services and the current capacity of the education sector to meet this demand. It will identify specific overseas markets and develop any appropriate strategy and a marketing plan for these markets. It will evaluate policy implications of adoption of the strategy and identify the extent of wider economic effects of expansion of exports from the education sector.

This part of the study will report by June 1985.

Beyond the study itself the Department of Trade will actively develop the recommendations for further longer term expansion of exports from the education sector and explore ways in which the Department's resources can be best applied to assist exporters of education services. A number of issues will be addressed including removal of supply side constraints particularly legislative and policy constraints. Action will be taken to ensure appropriate priority is accorded those education services which offer maximum export potential. Suppliers and potential suppliers will be advised of export possibilities through consultation and a series of seminars. The Department of Trade intends that the opportunities identified by the study be given wide coverage and suppliers be given appropriate advice on how they can become more active in the export field.

Uniadvise will shortly be circulating a request for information to all schools and departments. Should anyone require further information please contact Peter Sophios, Manager, Uniadvise on ext. 3076.

SYDNEY CITY ORGANIST OPENS SERIES

As an expansion of its activities in the community the Wollongong Pipe Organ Festival is to begin a series of monthly organ recitals. Each recital will take place at St. Michael's Anglican Cathedral on the first Sunday of each month at 11.45 a.m.

To open the series, Robert Ampt - the Sydney City Organist - will be performing among other things, the Widor Toccata. Mr. Ampt is one of Australia's most sought after organists and we are fortunate to have him perform here before his overseas tour next month.

The series aims at using the city's own organists as well as some from Sydney. In the coming 2 months we will be hearing Warwick Dunham - a young Sydney organist and Stephen Bydder - the organist/choirmaster at St. Marks, West Wollongong.

PIONEERS IN CHILDREN'S WORK VISITING UNIVERSITY OF WOLLONGONG

Two American professors who have developed an exciting new way of teaching children conducted a workshop in Wollongong for all interested people during their first visit to Australia.

Matthew Lipman and Margaret Sharp run the Institute for the Advancement of Philosophy for Children in New Jersey. The curriculum they have developed expands the critical thinking and reasoning skills of children of all ages. It also heightens their self esteem and motivation.

The objective of the Wollongong workshop was to produce people who may then work with and train classroom teachers. Most would have a background in philosophy and a commitment to the rationale of training children in this way.

It was the first extended workshop of its kind held in Australia.

THE WOMEN'S ROOM CONTROVERSY

The Chairperson of the Union Board and the Acting Secretary/Manager have requested that the following statement be published in full.

The Union Board of Management, on the 30th April 1985, considered a recommendation from the Union Services and House Committee regarding the Women's Room. The proposed changes were to open the "Wentworth Room/Women's Room" to general bookings for ALL members of the University.

In the two hour discussion regarding the future of the Wentworth/Women's Room the meeting proceeded as follows:

- * recommendations were tabled and considered (including petition of 123 signatures).
  - * the Chairperson read all the letters received regarding this matter (six in all from - Mr. B. Meek, Union Board Member; Ms. B. Urwin, University Counsellor; Ms. J. Parkinson, Landscape Department; Ms. R. Albury, Department of Sociology; Ms. A. Salleh, Lecturer, Department of Sociology and Dr. T. Jagtenberg, Acting Chairperson, Department of Sociology).
  - * all observers were given the opportunity to speak on the matter. Various Women's Collective representatives spoke and the Board noted comments made.
  - * the Board then considered and discussed the recommendations, and resolved the following -
1. That the Board allocates the Wentworth Room to affiliated Clubs and Societies of the University and refurbishes it with storage space, meeting table and chairs, pigeon holes nominating each club and society, notice board and any other furnishings deemed necessary for the efficient operation of these groups as recommended by the Services and House Committee.
  2. That the Board asks the Women's Collective to note that this is not an 'anti women' move but a practical resolution of the space problem and a practical move to stimulate the clubs and societies area.
  3. That the Board requests that the Union's Acting Secretary-Manager monitor the specific use of the room over the remainder of the academic year and the results be considered by the Board at the end of Session 2, 1985.
  4. That the Board through Chairperson inform the University (i.e. Council, K. Turnbull - Buildings and Grounds, Vice-Chancellor and University Secretary) that this move from a specific-purpose room to a multi-purpose room is a further indication of the critical space shortage in the Union as detailed in the Union Development proposals.

5. That the Board authorises the Chairperson and the Acting Secretary-Manager to issue a statement on this matter for insertion in Union News, Campus News and Tertangala.

6. That, in the event of the development of Union facilities, as soon as a room becomes available, a room be designated as the Women's Room.

Noting Motion 5, we believe that members of the Union should be made aware of the following facts:

1. The current Union building was designed for 2,000 users. At present the University community consists of over 6,000 students and 800 staff - thus indicating an obvious overcrowding of existing facilities.
2. There is at present an acute shortage of meeting rooms. In an attempt to alleviate the situation the old outside balcony was converted into a meeting room in 1984. However, in 1985 the number of bookings have exceeded the number of rooms available to the extent that there has been double bookings and meetings held in Union Offices.
3. The Union Board of Management is not opposed to the Women's Collective as the collective is welcome to book the Wentworth Room for meetings, films and speakers in the same way as other affiliated clubs and societies. And one only has to examine the budget allocation given to the Collective (i.e. a 70% increase from 1984 allocation) to see that the Union Board of Management actively supports them.
4. This move should be seen as a practical resolution of the space problem so as to make other meeting rooms more readily available, and a move to encourage minority groups and through their clubs and societies to be a focal point of the building. This will stimulate clubs and societies to be more actively involved with its members and also a place to enable dissemination of information for members.
5. The Board is sympathetic to the Women's movement and has guaranteed that as soon as further Union space becomes available the Women's Collective will be given the first priority to the allocation of new space.
6. It should be noted that the Union Board of Management has submitted a development proposal to the University detailing the types of facilities and rooms, needed to alleviate the current space problem.

It is hoped that the academic and administrative staff who showed such alarm to the Board's decision will support the Board in its attempts to gain top priority in the 1988-90 triennium funding list.

Persons wishing to discuss this matter at length don't hesitate to contact the Chairperson of the Board on 270871.

REWARD

A substantial reward is offered for the recovery or return of a 10" telescope and other fittings in an undamaged condition which were removed late December 1984 from the University Observatory on Mt. Keira Road.

GRADUATES COMMITTEE – IMPORTANT MEETING

The next meeting of the Graduates Committee on Wednesday, 29 May, 1985, at 6 p.m. in the Friends Board Room, 49 Northfields Avenue, Keiraville, will be a watershed in the history of this group.

The Committee will have before it a detailed draft submission to the University on strengthening and broadening the group. The submission was sparked by a workshop at the University of New South Wales led by Mr. David Butler, Director of Alumni Affairs at Ryerson Polytechnic, Ontario. The workshop was attended by the Executive Officer of the Friends, Ald. Giles Pickford.

The draft submission will be distributed with the agenda to any paid up member of the Graduates Group who requests it, whether or not he or she wishes to attend the meeting. Requests should be made to Valri Nunn, Friends Secretary, on (042) 270082.

The Vice-Chancellor, Prof. Ken McKinnon, will be attending the meeting, which indicates the importance that the University attaches to the building up of a strong Graduates Group within the Friends.

GRADUATES GROUP – VICTORIAN BRANCH TO BE ESTABLISHED

Mr. Michael J. Halls, Senior Administrative Officer of the Footscray Institute of Technology, has written the following to the Friends of the University.

"As an undergraduate student I was very active in university affairs. I would like to assist the Friends in any way however limited due to distance and finances.

"I was thinking that a Victorian chapter of the Friends might overcome some of these problems and would be pleased to assist in such a development if this was thought worthwhile. Such a base might also provide a focus for non members to join. Perhaps this matter has been or might be discussed by the Graduates Committee. I would welcome your response."

The Friends Office has responded by giving Mr. Halls an establishment grant and the mailing list of Victorian members of the Friends.

Anyone in Victoria who wants to make contact with Mr. Halls can ring him on (03) 6884200 or write to the Footscray Institute, P.O. Box 64, Footscray, Victoria, 3011.

UNESCO AND THE AUSTRALIAN MUSEUM PROMOTE PACIFIC ISLANDS' CULTURAL HERITAGE

A major step in protecting the cultural heritage of Pacific Islanders has been taken by Unesco and The Australian Museum in Sydney.

The Museum has just completed the final stage of a Unesco-funded inventory of Polynesian and Microesian artefacts in major Australian public collections.

The inventory, which is now being distributed primarily in the Pacific, is the first of its kind in the world. It will provide museums in Polynesian and Micronesia with information about objects held in Australia with which it is believed they will be better able to portray their islands' pasts.

A co-ordinator of the three volume inventory, Dr. Jim Specht, the head of the museum's Anthropology Department, said the emergence of museums in the Pacific Islands was an important part of their cultural development.

A WESTERN STYLE OF MEDITATION

A western style of meditation for beginners is being offered at the University commencing Friday 24th May at 7.30 p.m. It will run as an open forum to spiritual practices as well as practical participation in a western meditation.

The meditation has its roots in the western mystical system and thus has both active and passive components, unlike eastern counterparts which tend to emphasise the spinal column and the head. This meditation includes the whole body. The philosophy behind it also includes the so called mundane world of the householder. Because of this the meditation tends to help people find the sacred in the so called mundane.

Unlike meditations from the eastern tradition which developed in the Ashram, these meditations are particularly suitable for people who are householders or participate in the market place.

The facilitators will be Paul Tisdell who comes from the tradition of natural healers and is a practicing homeopath with extensive knowledge of the hermetic arts, and Ruth Hoole who is a graduate of this University with an extensive background in spiritual counselling which includes work with groups and individuals in the areas of meditation, dreams, and the development of higher faculties of mind.

Introduction meeting held in the Social Science Building, Room 2101 at 7.30 p.m. Friday 24 May. More details phone 941585 or 284724.

NATIONAL STUDENT DISCOUNT SCHEME (NSDS)

The International Student Identity Card (ISIC) has become the leading discount card in Australia. Over 2,000 outlets are listed in the NSDS Directory which give a student discount on presentation of an ISIC.

The NSDS continues to consolidate and expand the network of retail and other outlets that offer student discounts. Cinemas; sporting venues, clothing stores, zoos, domestic transport companies, hotels, stationers and art shops are just a few of the many types of places where you can get a student discount - quickly and without a hassle.

To avoid any doubt about your student status that might result from using a lesser-known campus I.D. card, the National Student Discount Scheme is based on two well-known cards. The International Student Identity Card (ISIC) is widely recognised around the world and has been appreciated for years by travelling students. With the NSDS, an ISIC is now as useful at home as away. The ISIC is available to full-time students only and costs $5. The Australian Student Identity Card (ASIC) is also well-established in Australia, particularly among part-time and external students who do not qualify for an ISIC. It costs $3.

Purchasers of both cards receive a free 80 page NSDS Directory, with details of the thousands of discounts available. An International Student Travel Guide also is given away free with each ISIC.

The difference between the ISIC and the ASIC is that the ISIC gives you access to all the discounts listed in the NSDS Directory while the ASIC gives you access to about 90%. Because many important discounts are only available to full-time students, (like travel and the cinema), for full-time students it is worth getting an ISIC rather than an ASIC.

The Directory also contains lots of valuable vouchers and student discount magazine subscriptions and is a great help to Australian students and overseas students travelling in Australia, pointing the way to thousands of bargains.

Full-time students wishing to purchase an ISIC can do so at most student union offices or at your local Student Travel Australia office.

RESOURCE CARD

From Monday 20 May the library is introducing a new streamlined photocopying service called Resource Card.

Vending machines in the library and Curriculum Resources Centre, operating on $2 and $5 notes, will dispense plastic cards which will operate the photocopiers in the library and CRC. Cards are reusable; when credit is exhausted they can be recharged in the vending machines.

The Resource Card will be quicker and easier to use than tokens, and the more efficient system should enable the library to contain photocopying charges beyond the initial increase from 6.66 cents to 7 cents a copy.

The contracting firm supplying the Resource Card service will oversee its introduction, and there will be demonstrations during the first week of operation.

Letters

Dear Editor,

The Australian Multi-Cultural Affairs Bill 1985 was recently passed through the Parliament.

The Bill while expanding the advisory role of the Institute, the bodies to whom the AIMA was to consult and "liaise with", did not include tertiary education institutions or research institutes. The view of the Australian Democrats was that this was a serious omission.

The vital contribution of tertiary institutions and research institutes to the task of AIMA to conduct, commission and encourage research was completely ignored.

The Australian Democrats moved an amendment to include these bodies in the Bill, and we were pleased that this worthwhile amendment eventually won support from both the Government and the Opposition.

Enclosed for your information is an extract from Hansard relating to the Bill. (This extract is available from the Editor).

Yours sincerely,

Senator Don Chipp,
Leader of the Australian Democrats.

Dear Sir,

In the next couple of months we are expecting that the Minister for Communication, Mr. Duffy, will be calling for Class C, (Community access) FM Licence applications for the Illawarra region.

In preparation for the licence hearings, it will be necessary for Illawarra Community Broadcasters to document the degree of support that exists for the establishment of such a service, and to emphasise the benefits that Community radio can confer on the Illawarra region.

Even though Illawarra Community Broadcasters has been in existence for over 4 years, we have noticed that while the migrant community has become very involved, the local tertiary and adult educational organisations have not yet grasped the opportunity to become significantly involved with the efforts to establish a community station in the area.

Much of the blame for this can perhaps be laid at our door, for not having spent sufficient effort to explain what it is all about.

So - enclosed is a document (The Editor has a copy for interested readers) which hopefully should make clear what community radio is and how the tertiary and adult education organisations in the area can benefit by becoming involved with I.C.B. and supporting the establishment of community access radio.

Hugh Spencer,
Chairman,
Illawarra Community Broadcasters,
C/- Department of Biology.

BIG BIRD FLYS IN

In UK's only professional touring music-theatre company are in residence at the School of Creative Arts from 20th May. Big Bird Music Theatre has won extensive critical plaudits for its work (the London Financial Times described a recent production as "a splendid achievement") and opens its two month stay with performances of a new piece, "From Hand to Mouth".

Composed by Creative Arts lecturer, Andrew Ford, on a recent visit to England and in conjunction with two Yorkshire writers, Bob Pegg and Julie Fullarton, "From Hand to Mouth" was premiered by Big Bird in March and the company has since then given the piece more than thirty performances in various locations in the north of England. Based in part on recorded conversations with elderly people still living in the Yorkshire Dales, "From Hand to Mouth" blends fact with fantasy in a rich and colourful account of life between the two world wars.

"From Hand to Mouth" has a broad appeal to "All Creatures Great and Small", young and old, lovers of folk music and experimental theatre, or just to those who enjoy a good tale or a tall story. The Australian premiere of the piece is in the Drama Hut at 8.30 p.m. on Monday, 20th May.

Bookings for Wollongong performances through School of Creative Arts, 270987 or University Union 270782.

Discount Quiz

► What card gives you more discounts than any other card?

► What card gives you over 2000 discounts around Australia?

No! It's not American Express or Bankcard. It's the International Student Identity Card (for full-time students who can maximise discounts with this card) and the Australian Student Identity Card (for all students but this card does not get all discounts listed in the NSDS Directory). The National Student Discount Scheme Directory points you in the right direction.
