

THE ARTHUR EVANS MEMORIAL LIBRARY:

The work of the late Mr. Arthur Evans (for several years an active Society member, whose widow, Mrs. Margaret Evans, is one of our most faithful and energetic workers) for the Illawarra Grammar School, has been commemorated there by the naming of the Arthur Evans Memorial Library. Mr. Evans took a leading part in the foundation of the school, and was active in its management up to the time of his death.

The Library was officially opened and a commemorative plaque was unveiled by the Minister for Works, Mr. Davis Hughes, on 24th June. The building was dedicated by Bishop Begbie, who paid a tribute to Mr. Evans's services to the school and to St. Stephen's Church of England, Port Kembla, and St. Michael's, Wollongong.

The recognition of Mr. Evans's services to his Church and community by this splendid and enduring monument will give great satisfaction to all who knew him.
