

CHARLOTTE STREET IN 1906

Dorothea Stuart nee Byron writes September 1991:-

Charlotte St (or the Gas Works Lane) was a very short street and in all there were only fourteen houses including the Davies foundry and Gasworks which took up most of the south side of the street. Most blocks were larger than the usual 50ft [15.240 metre] house blocks.

Doing a little fossicking I found that the following were living in Charlotte St in 1906:

Boyd - Adam James Walker, Labourer

Byron - Andrew, Edward Jnr. Honorah, Mary Anne, Matthew and Thomas.

Cromack - Robert, butcher, Richard, carpenter, and Maria Ann

Davies - The

Drew - David Malcolm Reece, engine cleaner, and Mary

Eastaways - The

Edwards - Charles Howard, carter, George Wallace, Labourer, Harold Cawood, labourer, John William mgr. gasworks, and Mary Ann

Logan - Albert Edward, labourer

M'Andrew - Alexander, labourer, George, carpenter, and Deborah

Murphy - John Power, miner

Quilty - Fred, coal miner and Margaret and Mary a dressmaker

Ring - George, labourer, William Ernest, fireman and Mary

Wannell - William, printer, and Caroline and Ellen
