KUNAPIPI
Kunapipi is a tri-annual arts magazine with special but not exclusive emphasis on the new literatures written in English. It aims to fulfil the requirements T.S. Eliot believed a journal should have: to introduce the work of new or little known writers of talent, to provide critical evaluation of the work of living authors, both famous and unknown, and to be truly international. It publishes creative material and criticism. Articles and reviews on related historical and sociological topics plus film will also be included as well as graphics and photographs.

The editor invites creative and scholarly contributions. Manuscripts should be double-spaced with footnotes gathered at the end, should conform to the MHRA (Modern Humanities Research Association) Style Sheet. Wherever possible the submission should be on disc (soft-ware preferably Word for Windows Wordperfect or Macwrite saved for PC) and should be accompanied by a hard copy.

All manuscripts and books for review, should be sent to:

Kunapipi is published with assistance from the Literature Board of the Australian Council, the Federal Government’s art funding and advisory body and the European branch of the Association for Commonwealth Literature and Language Studies.

Christopher Lane’s essay ‘Passion’s “Cumulative Poison”: Colonial Desire and Friendship in Kipling’s Fiction’ is reprinted with kind permission from chapter one of his book The Ruling Passion: British Colonial Allegory and the Paradox of Homosexual Desire, © (Durham and London: Duke University Press, 1995). The lyrics to ‘Magnificent Obsession’ that appear in Barbara Rasmussen’s essay ‘Virginia Woolf: Masculinity as Imperial “Parade”’ are quoted by kind permission of Windswept Pacific Music Ltd. The short quotations from Memoir of Mohammed el Adl that appear in Joseph Bristow’s essay ‘Passage to E.M. Forster: Race, Homosexuality, and the “Unmanageable Streams” of Empire’ are reproduced by kind permission of The Provost and Scholars of King’s College, Cambridge.

Plate I is taken from George Catlin, Illustrations of the Manners, Customs, and Conditions of the North American Indians (1876). Plate II is published by kind permission of the National Museum of American Art, Washington D.C. Plate III is published by kind permission of the National Portrait Gallery, Washington D.C. I am grateful to the Hogarth press for allowing me to reproduce Plates IV, V and VI from their 1938 edition of Virginia Woolf’s Three Guineas. Plate VII from Gunga Din (RKO), © 1939 is provided by the British Film Institute Stills Collection and published by kind permission of Turner Entertainment Co., All Rights Reserved. Plate VIII is reproduced from Young Australia (1902-1903). Plate IX is reproduced from The Australian Boys’ Annual (1912). Plate X is reproduced from The Australian Boys’ Annual (1925). Plate XI is taken from Worker c.1916.

We have done our best to ensure that we have included all the people and publishers who should be thanked. If we have inadvertently left anyone out we apologize.

This publication was made possible, in part, by the generous support of the University of Birmingham’s School of History and the Department of Byzantine Ottoman and Modern Greek Studies.
