West Papuans open office in Melbourne

Camellia B. Webb-Gannon
University of Wollongong, camellia@uow.edu.au

Ronny Kareni

Matt Gale

Publication Details
West Papuans open office in Melbourne

Abstract
How was a government department of the self-declared Federal Republic of West Papua, whose president and prime minister have been imprisoned in West Papua for "treason" since 2011, able to set up office at Melbourne's prime business real estate address?

Keywords
office, open, west, papuans, melbourne

Disciplines
Education | Social and Behavioral Sciences

Publication Details
West Papuans open office in Melbourne

CAMELLIA WEBB-GANNON, RONNY KARENI & MATT GALE

SUNRAYS PIERCED THE cold rain to make a sudden irate Indonesian government in Australia of more than 40 West Papuans...