CHIPMAN TO GIVE DEAKIN MEMORIAL LECTURE

Wollongong University Philosophy Professor, Lauchlan Chipman, has been invited to give this year's Alfred Deakin Memorial Lecture at the University of Melbourne.

The lecture will be delivered in the Public Lecture Theatre at the University of Melbourne at 8.00 p.m. on Thursday June 27th, just two days before Professor Chipman leaves Australia to take up a Visiting Fellowship in Law and Philosophy at Harvard University Law School in Massachusetts.

His subject will be "Education - An Agenda for Reform". Professor Chipman is one of the founding sponsors of the Australian Council for Educational Standards, which was formed in the early 1970's to campaign for higher quality and increased opportunities in education.

The Council, which is wholly independent of both governments and public and private school authorities, was established to counter trends which were perceived as hostile to academic excellence. Professor Chipman, who succeeded Dame Leonie Kramer to the Presidency in 1982, will relinquish this office next month.

Professor Chipman is a graduate in Law and Philosophy of Melbourne and Oxford Universities, and a diplomate of the University of New England in Education. He was Senior Lecturer in Philosophy at the University of Melbourne for four years before coming to Wollongong to found its Department of Philosophy just ten years ago. He said he felt particularly honoured to be invited back to his original alma mater, of which he is a life member of both the Graduate Union and the newly formed Alumni Association.

The Deakin Lecture is sponsored by the Alfred Deakin Lecture Trust of the University of Melbourne, and printed copies will be available to readers after 30 June. Interested people should contact the Editor.

SCHOOL OF CREATIVE ARTS LECTURER INVITED TO BE COMPOSER IN RESIDENCE AT THE SYDNEY OPERA HOUSE

Andrew Ford, lecturer in music in the School of Creative Arts, will be Composer-in-residence at the Opera House until December this year. He will be working with the Bennelong Education Program producing a large scale multimedia piece for young people called 'Tall Stories' to be performed from 20-23 November. Students from the School of Creative Arts here at the University will also be involved in the production.

Andrew Ford will feature prominently in Sydney in November. On November 1 the Sydney Symphony Orchestra will be performing the world premiere of Andrew's work 'Epilogue to an Opera' in the ABC studios, while at the same time in the Opera House, the Australian Opera will be performing part of Andrew's opera 'Poe' in a national opera workshop conducted by Stuart Chandler.

1985 THE YEAR OF YOUTH – "YOUNG ARTISTS OF PROMISE" – A FREE PUBLIC EXHIBITION OF DRAWINGS BY CHILDREN AND STUDENTS

It is singularly appropriate in this Year of Youth that an Australian University is promoting an exhibition of drawings titled "Young Artists of Promise." Selected drawings cover an age range from Pre Primary, Primary, Secondary to Tertiary Education.

These young artists are currently studying in either Schools, Colleges or University in the Illawarra region or Sydney.

In a single exhibition space it is possible to enjoy, compare and evaluate drawings done by very young children through to adult tertiary students. Thus the exhibition gives emphasis to drawing as a visual language - an international language. We would have to be specialist scholars to understand ancient foreign texts such as the 'Dead Sea Scrolls' or ancient Egyptian writing. Yet we can comprehend, appreciate and enjoy drawings made by our distant forbears who lived sixteen thousand or more years ago, and drew on cave walls such as Lascaux in Southern France.

It could also be argued that never was there more need for educational establishments to cultivate the creative side of the young who live in a world full of changes; facing as they do the potential horrors of nuclear holocaust; the ever rising world population and the inability of human beings to so organise their affairs to prevent acute hunger, indeed famine now widespread in certain regions of the world. Perhaps less dramatically but no less importantly is the need to ensure that living in city complexes does not blight or diminish the human spirit but enriches it.

In this context this exhibition is one to be enjoyed but it has an underlying seriousness of purpose. Not least in the continuing validity and worth of drawing as an essential discipline in training young children and students.

Preview Sunday, May 26th, 11.30 a.m. to 1.15 p.m.

Open to Public, Monday 27th May until Sunday 23rd June, 1985.

Monday to Friday, 10.00 am to 1.00pm and 2.00pm to 4.00pm.

THE EMPLOYMENT ADVANTAGES OF A MATHEMATICS EDUCATION

The Australian Mathematical Society has prepared and distributed a new brochure entitled "Mathematics Graduates are Highly Employable".

The brochure is designed to make students, their parents and their teachers, as well as the general public, aware of the importance and advantages of an education in Mathematics. It is issued as part of the Society's aim to increase community appreciation of the importance and benefits of mathematics to the prosperity and welfare of Australia.

The brochure discusses some of the key advantages of a mathematics education. Such an education gives students the basic foundation to perform quantitative manipulations confidently, and thereby the flexibility to carry out, effectively, the duties associated with a wide spectrum of employment.

The brochure explains how and why the computer revolution will generate more, rather than less, jobs for mathematically trained people. Facts and figures (from the Graduate Careers Council of Australia) on the percentage of unemployed graduates in various disciplines are included, as well as a list of some of the organizations which employ mathematicians, together with details about what mathematics graduates do.

A copy of the brochure is available from the Editor, ext. 3073.
NORTH WOLLONGONG STATION HOARDING

The University is ready for the influx of train travellers who will be going through North Wollongong when the electrification is completed. A large twelve shelter hoarding (see picture) has been erected on the western side. It informs the travelling public that the University is located 1.3 km west via Porter Street and gives address and telephone number for enquiries.

Other improvements in the pipeline are bus shelters next to the Union Entrance and at the corner of Porter Street and Crawford Ave., which should make a drier trip for those travelling by bus to and from North Wollongong.

General Notices

ELECTRIFICATION OF LINE TO WOLLONGONG

Following representations from the University, the State Rail Authority has provided for some Sydney trains to stop at North Wollongong Station after the electrification of the line is completed in December this year.

The draft timetable provides for trains to leave Sydney at 3 minutes past the hour in the morning, stop at a few Sydney stations and then travel direct to Thirroul and Wollongong. Each train will be met at Thirroul by a local electric train, which will stop at all stations to Port Kembla.

The 7.03 a.m. direct train from Sydney will also stop at North Wollongong station.

In the afternoon the direct trains (i.e. Wollongong, Thirroul and then onto Sydney) will stop at North Wollongong at 3.27, 4.45 and 5.45 p.m.

The State Rail Authority will advise the University of the final timetable for the year.

SECURITY ARRANGEMENTS

Most members of staff are no doubt aware of the increasing incidence of theft on campus.

A recent incident in the Administration Building has highlighted the fact that all areas of the campus are vulnerable and that care must be taken to protect the University’s property as well as personal belongings.

Members of the Security Staff regularly patrol the buildings and grounds, but staff members are reminded to lock their offices when finishing work each day.

Your co-operation and active participation is needed to improve security on Campus.

REWARD

A substantial reward is offered for the recovery or return of a 10” telescope and other fittings in an undamaged condition which were removed late December 1984 from the University Observatory on Mt. Keira Road.

Anyone with any information should contact MBS Loss Adjusters (phone 271700) or Susan Abraham (ext. 3931) Administrative Officer, Finance.

The reward offer is open until 24th May, 1985.

AUSTRALIAN INSTITUTE OF MANAGEMENT

The Institute’s brochure listing training courses for July 1985 is available from the Editor, ext. 3073.

“DO THE RIGHT THING”

“DO THE RIGHT THING” stickers have recently appeared on waste containers around the University, in an attempt to minimise the amount of litter on the Campus.

This has been an increasing problem in recent years, compounded by increases in the number of students and staff members.

It is hoped that the stickers will remind people to “DO THE RIGHT THING” by disposing of waste appropriately and ensuring the Campus remains a pleasant place to work and study. (R 26-7-85).

Letters

Dear Editor,

While Mr. Illert can be commended for his concern about the environment, the rest of his letter is a dangerous mixture with assumptions, ignorance and untruths which could foster ill-will in the minds of those gullible readers who like Mr. Illert don't take time out to check the facts.

Landscaping is an art form requiring creativity, skill and research. Like any other art form there are progressive stages from the basic material to the finished work. Due consideration is given to cause and effect, especially we are not insensitive regarding living subjects. However, the final components, displayed with balance and harmony to the students and general public are the predominant concern. The site occupied by the University was formerly a dairy farm.

Native species form the basic ingredients of the landscape policy. Some of these are controlled to contribute to the overall desired effect and to achieve this as well as remove accumulated garbage, crockery, cutlery, garden seats, etc. are the reasons for draining the pond of the millions of marine life, crustacea and gambusa a few perished but in spite of Mr. Illert's comments the bird life is all intact.

The western dam is to be modified so it is logical to remove the noxious cumbungi which displaces all other species and replant with appropriate species when the modifications are completed. The burning off was necessary to prevent regeneration from seed and was restricted to a long narrow zone so that most if not all the wild life escaped. Certainly the frogs are still heard in large numbers. The whole project is subject to the scrutiny of ecology conscious experts.

We, the gardeners, are glad that modern technology hasn't yet manufactured 'canned instant landscape' as we enjoy our part in the product but it is annoying to have our work attacked by pen snipers when we have always been willing to educate people about the landscape which so many find relaxing and beautiful.

Members of Landscape Department.
