ONCE AGAIN IT'S ENROLMENT TIME

The first round of new enrolments was completed on Friday February 7, with acceptance rates up for most courses. There are 89 first-round offers still out for overseas students and they have until February 12 to take them up. These are late because the new Overseas Students Office in Canberra was late in giving the dates to the Universities and Colleges Admissions Centre.

A limited number of second round offers will be made in a few of the courses with enrolments to be made today, February 18. By then there should be in the region of 2,200 new students enrolled.
$Sources of Funds$

The following sources of research funds are now available to members of academic staff. Further information including application forms, where these are to hand, may be had from Tom Moore on ext 3386. Intending applicants are reminded that all research applications must be forwarded through the Research Office.

The Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Academic and Research) Professor Ian Chubb, is happy to discuss aspects of application strategy, including design and presentation, with researchers. To render this process as efficient and productive as possible, intending applicants should first consult widely, for example, with their relevant Chairperson(s) about the content of their application. They are then invited to send a full draft to Professor Chubb for comment before final typing. Please allow sufficient time for consultation and reference to the Research Office while meeting the closing date given by the funding body.

APPLE EDUCATION FOUNDATION

APPLE COMPUTER, INC., is now accepting applications for their third Australian cycle of grants. Forty-four grants have been awarded to date. Grants are awarded to assist educators working in the field of computer-based teaching and learning systems, including courseware, software or hardware.

In 1986 special emphasis will be given towards projects applicable to Education Programs for the Macintosh with special emphasis on teaching and learning-based projects, lesson presentation including authoring programs, and courseware for specific secondary school subjects. However, all grant applications complying with the guidelines will be considered.

Project development need not have commenced at the time of application.

Applications close on March 28.

THE AUSTRALIAN RESEARCH GRANTS SCHEME

The Australian Research Grants Scheme (A.R.G.S.) operates under broad terms of reference within which it has established certain policies.

The proposed methodology and aims of projects are judged on their feasibility and originality, and the applicants themselves are assessed on their capacity to make high-level contributions in their field of inquiry.

The ARGs supports non-directed basic research; non-directed in the sense that applicants present their own research topic, set their own goals and structure their own research plans. The Committee does not attempt to discriminate between outstanding fundamental or scholarly work and outstanding applied work.

Generally speaking, the criterion for success of an application will be whether the project is likely to make a real advance either in the fundamental sense by making some contribution to our understanding of the subject, or in the applied sense by making a contribution to the solution of an important practical problem.

The scheme supports outstanding and promising research irrespective of the division between academic disciplines. It is expected that research funded by the ARGs will lead to the publication of findings of significance.

Work of a strictly developmental nature is not supported.

ARGs — 1987

Professor Don Aitken, Chairman of ARGs, will deliver a lecture to staff on ARGs at 12.30 pm on Monday February 24 in Pentagon 5.

Research projects in the physical, chemical, biological, earth, engineering, applied and social sciences and in the humanities may be recommended for support under the ARGs.

The committee's recommendations are based solely on the quality of scholarship or excellence of research in each individual proposal and are made without regard for any arithmetical distribution of the funds among states, institutions or subject areas.

Each application should be complete in itself so that the sub-committee and assessors have at their disposal all information which is not readily available now in referred journals.

ARGs distributed over $27m for the 1986 calendar year. A similar sum will be available for 1987.

Types of grants:

Project Grant: may be supported for up to six years, but is subject to annual renewal over that period.

Program Grant: may be awarded for a period of up to six years and will be offered to investigators with a substantial record of research achievement.

Pilot Projects: funding is for one year with support renewable for one further year only.

Applications close with ARGs on April 2.

Scholarships and Prizes

Details of scholarships and prizes listed in this feature are on file at the Campus News office — room G24A, on the ground floor in the administration building.

TRAVEL GRANTS

The Australian Academy of Humanities is offering two grants-in-aid for short-term study abroad during 1986-87, to scholars resident in Australia and working in the field of Humanities (Philosophy and Religion, Literature and Philosophy, Linguistics, History, Prehistory, Archaeology, Fine Arts and Musicology).

The grants are designed for scholars engaged in full-time teaching or other full-time employment through the year. Applicants will be favoured who have a project going forward which requires a short visit overseas for its completion or advancement near to that stage, or who have already published work in a similar or related field. The grants will normally be $A1000 each, paid as a contribution to the cost of one return air fare between the applicant's place of employment in Australia and his/her centre of research abroad.

The Academy will not award grants to attend conferences, or to complete a higher degree. The Council of the Academy expects that the typical university or college of advanced education applicant will be seeking aid towards approved leave abroad during the long vacation. A grant, which will not be made for periods abroad of less than six weeks, cannot be combined with any other travel grant.

Application forms are available from The Secretary, Australian Academy of the Humanities, GPO Box 93, Canberra, ACT, 2601, and must be returned to reach the Academy’s office in Canberra before July 31.

Awards will normally be announced before August 31 each year.

Seminars

CONFERENCE IN MALAYSIA

IMP — the Universiti Pertanian Malaysia — will host the 17th General Conference and Seminar on Professionalism in University Education: Implications for ASAIHL Universities from December 7 to 11. The acronym ASAIHL of course stands for the Association of Southeast Asian Institutions of Higher Learning.

Theme of the seminar will be the problem facing governments of trying to accommodate the ever-growing demands for tertiary education. To a developing country with limited resources a major problem is the choice between quality and quantity — whether to spread available resources thinly and widely or to optimise them to a limited number of students.

The seminar will aim to bring together academicians and career administrators to identify and analyse factors related to professionalism with the view to developing more competent academicians and administrators towards achieving excellence in teaching, research, public service and administration.

STRATEGIES FOR COMMUNITY EDUCATORS

Department of Arts Heritage and Environment’s Second National Environmental Education Seminar and Workshops will be held in Canberra from February 24–26. The theme is ‘Getting to People — Strategies for Community Educators’.

The Seminar will provide an opportunity for those involved in community environmental education to increase their awareness, understanding and skills in developing environmental education programs.

The seminar and workshops program will focus on community education strategies and include a case study on wetlands management to complement the theme of Wetlands for World Environment Day on June 5.

CENTRE FOR TECHNOLOGY AND SOCIAL CHANGE IN ASIA

In the past two months the Centre for Technology and Social Change has been highly active in the Asian region.

Professor Hill acted as a consultant and faculty member for Unesco's first international science and technology (S & T) policy training program held in Katmandu, Nepal, during November-December. As part of TASC's program on S&T policy training for ASEAN he visited each of the six ASEAN nations — Indonesia, Thailand, Philippines, Malaysia, Singapore and Brunei — to review the program's effectiveness and develop its future orientation. In the course of this he was invited to address the Philippines National Science and Technology Authority on science technology and development.

In January, Professor Hill was invited to Kuala Lumpur by the National Council for Science, Technology and Development and the government training organisation, INTAN, of Malaysia to address them and act as consultant in the development of the research and policy training programs.

Professor Ron Johnston was appointed as a Unesco consultant to develop a set of science and technology indicators for the Philippines. He spent the two weeks immediately prior to the elections leading a seminar for the majority of science and technology policy officials, consulting with scientists, and developing a set of indicators appropriate to the Philippines. He also gained considerable insight into the local engineering practices.

The TASC team in Science and Technology for developing countries has been considerably strengthened by the arrival of Don Scott-Kemmis, as a Program Development Officer, formerly from the Science Policy Research Unit at the University of Sussex. He has wide experience in research consultancy and training on science policy in developing countries.

EXCHANGE OF SCIENTISTS AND TECHNOLOGISTS

Seven scientists and technologists received awards to participate in the first program of exchanges between the UK and Australia in a recently established agreement between the Royal Society of London, The Australian Academy of Technological Science and the Australian Academy of Science. The objective of the agreement is to foster co-operation in the natural and technological sciences between Australia and the UK by means of interchange and collaboration of scientists and technologists.

Awards were made to participants to enable them to engage in productive, collaborative interchange with colleagues in the UK on programs of importance to Australia.

Funding of the scheme is reciprocal and provided by the Commonwealth Government for Australian participants.

ADMINISTRATIVE TRAVELLING FELLOWSHIPS 1986

The 15th annual competition for these awards, which provide unique opportunities for career administrative officers to visit other countries of the Commonwealth to study problems of professional interest to themselves and of importance to their own universities and university systems, is announced by The Association of Commonwealth Universities, London.

The awards are not intended for the training of cadet administrators; rather they are a way of offering professional reinforcement and refreshment to career administrative officers; they are open to the administrative staff of every institution which is a member of the Association, as well as to the administrative staff of the inter-university organisations in any country of the Commonwealth.

More information from Registry files.

AWARDS FOR ACADEMIC STAFF

ACCIDENTS ON CAMPUS, INSURANCE CLAIMS AND ADMISSION OF LIABILITY

As a result of a recent incident, interim advice has now been received that in the event of University staff being involved in an accident resulting in damage to other person's property by any means within the University grounds, staff should not admit liability or enter into any discussion whatsoever regarding the matter. The matter should be reported to the person's Supervisor who in turn should advise the Finance Officer in writing.

Any potential claimant should be advised to write to the University regarding the matter.

K.E. TURNBULL
UNIVERSITY MOTTO AND FLAG

The University Council would welcome views on the need for a University motto. The motto question was raised and discussed before 1975 and no conclusion was reached. The University is now ten years old and has had time to develop its own character. It might, therefore, be an appropriate time to consider whether the University needs a motto and, if so, what form it should take.

I would be grateful if you would return the completed reply slip to the address provided by March 1. Entry slips are available from Marie Cooper in the SRC office.

K.E. Baumber,
University Secretary.

Classes will last approximately 45 minutes and will include a warm-up and stretching, calisthenics, running and warm down. All classes will be of moderate intensity. The prime objective is enjoyment.

You may also wind down from a hard day at work by joining the jogging group for a relaxing leisurely jog throughout the Botanical Gardens. You will spend some 30 minutes exploring and, so enjoying, Wollongong’s picturesque gardens before cooling down with some specific jogging stretches.

EXHIBITION ON PAINTINGS AND DRAWINGS

An exhibition of the work of the Queensland artist Irene Amos entitled ‘Metaphysis of Bio-morphic Abstraction’ will be officially opened by Professor Peter Rousch, Deputy Vice-Chancellor, on Sunday March 2. The preview will begin at 11.30 am and go on until 1.15 pm.

The exhibition will be open to the public from Monday March 3. Times are Monday to Friday 10 am to 4 pm and on Sunday from 2 pm to 5 pm, in the Long Gallery.

Irene Amos conducted the inaugural Painting Summer School for the School of Creative Arts in May 1982. She lectured again in 1983 and conducted a workshop in July of that year and again at the recent Bask in the Arts Program in January this year.

She has been actively engaged as a creative catalyst in her teaching for a period of some twenty years.

As one of Queensland’s best known and active personalities on the art scene, she has held over thirty solo exhibitions to date. This ‘solo’ is the first external Post Graduate Exhibition to be held at the Long Gallery.

Irene has travelled widely, visiting some 40 countries. Studies in Italy and Japan have electrified and intensified her use of colour. She understands its power and uses it boldly and with clarity. Strong, decidedly complex and cloaked in abstraction, the works are however, profoundly female in their obsession with growth, death and the organic.
ELECTION OF ONE GENERAL STAFF MEMBER OF THE UNIVERSITY COUNCIL TO FILL A CASUAL VACANCY

Written nominations made on the appropriate form should reach the Returning Officer no later than 5 pm on Monday, 3 March, 1986.

Nomination forms can be collected personally from the University Secretary's Office at the University or obtained by telephoning the University (ext 3799).

The Committee of Vice-Chancellors and Principals of the Universities of the United Kingdom has provided details of its Overseas Research Students Awards for 1986. Approximately 800 awards will be offered on a competitive basis to overseas postgraduate students of outstanding merit and research potential. Each award will cover the difference between the tuition fee for a British postgraduate student and the full-cost fee chargeable to an overseas postgraduate student.

The Awards are tenable at most British universities, and may be held in any field of study. Award holders will be overseas graduate students who, in 1986-87, are beginning full-time study as registered research students for a higher degree, or are already undertaking such a course and do not have an ORS Award. The only criteria for the awards are outstanding merit and research potential; other factors such as means, nationality, proposed field and institution of study, will not be taken into account. Subject to the satisfactory progress of the Award holder, they will be renewed for a second and third year, according to the normal or remaining length of the research course being undertaken.

Applications for ORS Awards close on May 1.

Details of the positions listed below are on file in the Campus News Office – room G24A, on the ground floor in the administration building.

GATEWAY TO A MOUNTAIN

In last week’s issue of Campus News we published a picture of Bert Flugelman’s Brobdingnagian steel structure, ‘Gateway to Mt Keira’, with the designer posing in front of it. Our picture did little to give clue to the overpowering impact of the structure on the view of the mountain. It is only when Mt Keira is seen as a backdrop that the full impact of Flugelman’s work strikes home. If you haven’t already seen it — it is on the lawn behind the School of Creative Arts — then you should waste no time.

The sculpture was conceived last year as part of BHP’s centenary and was presented to the University to make the beginning of a new era of prosperity and growth for the Illawarra.

The design is Bert Flugelman’s, of course. The fabrication however — the bending of the massive-diameter stainless-steel tubing — was carried out by Tubemakers, a subsidiary of BHP in Newcastle.

For this reason it was totally appropriate that the formal handing-over of the work to the University should be performed by Mr J.K. Ellis, general manager of BHP Steel, Port Kembla.

The ‘Gateway’ was received on behalf of the University by the Chancellor, Mr Justice Hope, at a ceremony on Friday February 7.

Also present were Professor Peter Rousch and Professor Ken McKinnon, both of whom stressed the fact that the way in which the design and construction of Flugelman’s work was carried out was symbolic of the increasing level of co-operation between the University and BHP.

Also among those present were the BHP craftspeople who took the ‘Gateway’ from a drawing to its present magnificence in stainless steel. They were Graham Thomson, Nick Leinsle, Bob Mountford, Derek Mendygral, Tom Gulyas, Phil Mobberley, Merv Chapman and Ken Charker.

Book of the Week

This is a comprehensive, dispassionate and scholarly account of the affirmative-action movement and its impact on Australia. As Professor Chipman remarks, in his foreword, this is one of very few accounts of this important issue that is objective, has academic detachment, and is not a product of 'the bargaining affirmative-action industry'.

Both legal and philosophical principles are employed in this detailed analysis. In six chapters, Moens deals with the search for equality, the American experience of affirmative action, anti-discrimination legislation in Australia, the Australian debate on affirmative action, compensatory justice, and forward-looking arguments.

Dr Moens is well qualified for his task. Born in Belgium, he has American law degrees and a PhD in philosophy from the University of Sydney. A regular lecturer in summer schools at the University of Wollongong, he has published and researched with Dr de Lacey on this subject.
