IMPROVING RESEARCH PERFORMANCE

The Australian Vice-Chancellors' Committee met on June 16 at The University of Sydney. This is a report on some of the principal matters which were considered at that meeting, and other matters which have been occupying the attention of the AVCC in recent times.

The AVCC met with Professor R.O. Slatyer, Chairman, and Dr B.S. Middleton, Secretary, Australian Science and Technology Council, to discuss the AVCC's response to the recent ASTEC report on higher education research funding.

The AVCC supports in principle the establishment of an Australian Research Council (ARC) provided:
- that substantial additional funds are made available to the ARC over and above those at present available to those research granting bodies to be included in the ARC;
- that these funds be additional to, and not at the expense of, the funds presently available to the higher education sector;
- that each institution has some flexibility in allocating research funds within its own research plan;
- that satisfactory safeguards are made within the ARC adequately to support fundamental basic research in science, technology and the humanities and social sciences; and
- that the Special Research Grant, the Equipment Grant, and the Commonwealth Program for the Promotion of Excellence in Research continue to be administered by CTEC.

The AVCC believes, however, that the effectiveness of the ARC would be strongly enhanced if it was placed within the Department of Prime Minister and Cabinet rather than within the Department of Science.

The AVCC also believes that there is a continuing role for ASTEC providing advice to government on broad policy issues relating to research. The existing organisations such as the NH&MRC, NERDCC, CTEC, etc., together with the ARC, would be responsible for the allocation of research funds subject to the implementation of ASTEC policy recommendations supported by government. This might imply that some areas are selected for special research support. The AVCC regards the plurality of research funding as essential for the vitality of higher education research.

LIBRARY FINES

From Monday July 27 fines will be charged for the late return of all books.

Fines will be charged at $1 per day per overdue item but fines notices will be sent only when the fines accrued by a borrower total $10 or more. The maximum fine on any one item overdue is $30.

Fines notices will be sent by the Finance Office and all payments and enquiries regarding notices received should be made to the Finance Office.

Details of fines on books returned during the current day only may be checked on PALS terminals. Fines information is transferred to the Finance Office system each night and borrowers do not have access to this file.

Overdue notices will be sent when books are not returned on time. Please respond to these to minimise fines.

If a book is not returned within 30 days of the due date, invoices for the replacement cost, ($50), plus outstanding fines, (maximum $30), plus a $10 administration fee will be raised. If the book is subsequently returned, the replacement cost will not be charged but the other charges remain.

If you have lost a library book please inform the Library immediately to keep fines to a minimum.

Curtin University of Technology

Curtin University of Technology has been admitted to the Australian Universities Industrial Association and an application for membership of the AVCC is under consideration.

The Impact of Overseas Student Charge on University Postgraduate Awards

The AVCC has prepared a statement for the government on the Impact of the Overseas Student Charge on University Postgraduate Awards. The statement draws attention to the fact that acceptance of a number of awards for 1987 have been deferred to allow students time to raise the money to pay the charge.

It is not possible to estimate the full impact of the Overseas Charge on University Postgraduate Awards in 1987 particularly because of the number of Awards which were funded before the end of 1986. However, there can be no doubt that the imposition of the Charge has placed a considerable additional financial burden on some students and has prevented others from taking up these scholarships to study in Australia.

AIDS And The Universities

Vice-Chancellors reviewed the action individual universities are taking to advise staff and students about AIDS and what precautions should be observed in practical classes and research laboratories.
ADMINISTRATION — WHO TO CONTACT?

The next four pages of Campus News consist of a pull-out insert of the Administrative Structure on one side and the contact persons in the relevant areas on the other side. This insert is designed to help you contact the people you deal with. It is suggested you lift out the insert and keep it in an easily accessible place.

DO FINANCES BAFFLE YOU?

To assist staff in understanding the University's financial system, a seminar will be held on August 19. During the time an overview will be given, as well as specifics such as budget allocation, making purchases, having accounts paid, how fines are processed, understanding the monthly reports, transferring funds, and updating commitments. The seminar will be particularly useful for those responsible for all or part of the accounting function in this area.

If you wish to attend this seminar, please complete the blue nomination form for staff training activities, available from the Personnel Services Branch. Venue and time will be advised following nomination. Nomination closes August 7.
